

Move to Return Dominick From West for Trial

Badger Officials and Witnesses Bound for California
2 TO GO BY PLANE

Suspect in Wilson Murder Identified From Picture

Portage — (P) — Sheriff Alfred E. Gilbert of Columbia-co was to leave Des Moines, Iowa, by plane today for Sacramento, Calif., with a witness to aid in identification of a suspect in the slaying of Robert A. Wilson of Kenosha, Wis.

The suspect, Victor Dominick of Racine, Wis., is held at Sacramento and California authorities said they might release him unless convincing evidence is presented shortly. Harold Gastrow, 15-year-old farm boy who identified Dominick's photograph as that of one of the two men who were seen near the scene of the murder on Aug. 24, was Gilbert's companion.

Unable to obtain space on planes leaving Chicago, Sheriff Gilbert and young Gastrow went to Des Moines by train and had plane reservations from there west.

Mrs. Linda Gastrow, mother of the farm boy, will leave Portage by train for California with District Attorney Ross Bennett after tomorrow's preliminary examination of three men held in the Columbia-co jail on charges of first degree murder. Mrs. Gastrow will seek to confirm the identification.

The Gastrows have asserted a man of Dominick's description appeared at their farm near Lodi on Aug. 24, the day Wilson was slain in an alleged plot to get $40,000 from his estate.

Dominick has refused to waive extradition, contending he has witnesses who will testify he was in California when the crime was committed.

The decision to take young Gastrow by plane was made yesterday when Sheriff Gilbert received a wire from the Sacramento chief of police which read, "can't hold Dominick more than 48 hours. Rush two witnesses by plane."

Mrs. Gastrow was afraid to go by plane, but Harold, who was at first reluctant, agreed to make the trip when the sheriff described the beautiful country he would see. The boy was playing in the high school band at the Lodi fair, when the sheriff called for him. He gave Harold a sweater and the two started for Chicago.

The Gastrows entered the case Tuesday after they had seen a newspaper picture of Frank Tylius, the Kenosha saloonkeeper who confessed to a part in the slaying, named four accomplices, and later hanged himself in Wisconsin Dells jail. When officers showed Mrs. Gastrow a group of pictures she picked out the one of Dominick as that of the other man who visited the farm. So did Harold.

"Two men came to our farm about 5:45 on the afternoon on Aug. 24," said Mrs. Gastrow in extradition testimony. "They looked tired and dirty and were sweating. It looked evident that they had had great physical exertion. Their hands were dirty as if they had been handling dirt."

"One of the men came up to the house and asked for a drink and I sent Harold out to pump for them. One of the men drank two and a half cups of water. The other, Tylius, I got a very good look at both of them."

Harold said he was suspicious that the men were "bank robbers or something and stayed up a while that night so they wouldn't return and take something."

Tradition papers, drawn up yesterday, pointed out that Wilson was slain, according to Tylius' confession, after a hard struggle. A copy of the confession is being taken to Sacramento by the sheriff.

Frank Tylius, who committed suicide in the Wisconsin Dells jail after allegedly confessing complicity in the plot, was identified by the two witnesses as having been with the man who appeared with Dominick at their farm. Dominick reportedly had been named as an accomplice in Tylius' confession.

Three men and a woman are now under arrest as a result of the slaying. Frank Infusino, William Covel and Frank Cosentino, all residents of Kenosha, are held here on first degree murder charges. Josephine Ross, a friend of Tylius, was charged with being an accessory to a felony.

Authorities said John F. Tyrell, Milwaukee handwriting expert, had determined that the handwriting of Miss Ross was identical with that of one of the conspirators, although the conspirators allegedly intended to collect more than $40,000 from Wilson's estate.

Hitler Must Map Stand by Next Monday

Has Choice Between Backing Von Papen and Facing New Election

TEST IS WELCOMED
Present Ministry Believed Stronger Now Than Before Balloting

Berlin — (P) — Adolf Hitler arrived in Berlin today to take personal charge of negotiations aiming toward a coalition of his National Socialist party and the Centrists.

His advent was viewed with equanimity in government circles since President Von Hindenburg has given full support to the program of Chancellor Von Papen.

The Hitlerites and Centrist party of former Chancellor Heinrich Brüning have until Monday when the Reichstag meets to decide whether they will support the Von Papen government or go before the voters in what would be the fifth major election this year.

Hitler will instruct Nazi members of the Reichstag on the tactics they are to pursue next week. The coalition conferences must come to a decision between noon Saturday and 3:00 p. m. Monday.

The decision of the coalition parties is not to support the government but to support the coalition parties in the Reichstag.

Driver of Alcohol Truck in Gun Fight In Not Guilty Plea

Green Bay — (P) — A plea of not guilty was entered by Peter Abrahams, Green Bay, driver of an alcohol truck which figured in a running gun battle between hijackers and run runners in Kewaunee-co yesterday, when he was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner John A. Watermolen here today on a charge of transportation and possession of alcohol.

Abrahams first gave his name as "Andrews" and said he was from Sheboygan. Later he admitted his identity but refused to discuss the gun fight that was interrupted when the sheriff arrived on the scene.

Abrahams was driving a truck load of alcohol towards Green Bay when the battle started between two car-loads of gun-men.

Farm Bureau Advises Badger Farmers Not To Join in "Holiday"

Warns Strike Cannot Bring General Increase in Prices

LISTS ILLS OF MOVE

Says Income Menaced Without Real Aid to Agriculture

Madison — (P) — The Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation announced today that it is advising all farmers to refrain from taking any part in the Wisconsin Farmers Holiday association organized at Marshfield last Saturday.

"We are convinced that farmers must get more for their produce," the farm bureau said in a public statement. "The method proposed and followed by the farmers holiday movement, however, cannot bring about a general increase in prices for farm products when so many consumers cannot buy at present price levels. A strike at this time would only exaggerate the conditions and working intolerable hardships on both producer and consumer."

"The holiday movement already has escaped from the regulation and control of its leaders. It has invited the participation of irresponsible groups who are not agricultural producers. It does not help the farmer meet his financial obligations, yet takes away his current income. It jeopardizes the existence of every cooperative by withdrawing from it the support of the farmer. It has led to cases of violence which always turns public sympathy from the just cause of agriculture."

Lack of Support
The farm bureau said that the alleged failure of cooperative merchandising is not responsible for the critical conditions of agriculture today but rather the failure of more farmers to support such a program.

"The solution of the farm problem does not lie in a temporary strike, but in getting this nation of ours to recognize a sound agricultural policy, which will establish the principle that a prosperous agriculture is essentially an important customer for all the commodities produced by factory and mill," the statement said.

The organization said that farmers must assume active responsibility for assembling, processing and merchandising their own products through cooperatives and that the agricultural act should be amended to insure full control of surplus in the hands of the farmer, without requiring any subsidy from government.

ONE HIGHWAY GUARDED
Sioux City, Iowa — (P) — Although every other highway leading to Sioux City was deserted today by trucks and picketers, the Sioux City highway remained open. The Iowa Highway 75 to halt any livestock or grain trucks which might attempt to enter Sioux City over that route.

No disorder was reported at the picket lines either last night or this morning and it was reported that most of the truckers who ordinarily travel to Sioux City on that route had been picked up during the night and entered the city on highways which no longer are being picketed. Most of the trucks detoured to Highway 20 and entered the city from the east, it was reported.

The strikers guarding Highway 75 reiterated their intentions of remaining on duty until the governors' conference here tomorrow and perhaps afterward if the chief executives of the middle-western states fail to agree on some plan to increase the price of farm products.

At Des Moines 3 more of the 11 men arrested in connection with picketing activities near here Aug. 29 were released today by Justice of the Peace John S. Bell of Valley Junction. They were E. W. Mielke, Edward Martin and Douglas W. Wells. The other four men were held on the charge that they had actually seen the men obstructing or attempting to obstruct a highway.

Four others were released yesterday and two held to the grand jury.

Marathon-co Fields Are Swept by Fires
Wausau — (P) — Fires sweeping wild hay fields and pastures in southeastern Marathon-co have caused thousands of dollars damage in spite of efforts to check them.

Approximately 200 square miles of lowlands have been swept by flames which are still spreading and which are burning deeply into underground peat and ruining wild marshlands for 1933 crops.

Members of the district in which the Howe school is located said the building was not in the path of the fire. No buildings have been reported destroyed, but cattle pasture in some marshlands are suffering from burned feed.

Safe Containing More Than $7,000 Is Stolen
Nagawicka, Wis. — (P) — Burglars some time yesterday carted away a safe in which Zahradnik kept $7,220, about $5,000 in bonds, checks for $47 and $500 in other valuables and three pistols. The safe was taken from Zahradnik's home while he and his wife were in Milwaukee.

Both Parties Seek Control Of Congress

Intensive Drive for Majority Launched by Leaders at Capital

Washington (AP)—An intensive campaign for congressional control is being launched in the wake of the quadrennial presidential drive. It included today consultations with leaders of both major parties over the contested command of Capitol Hill.

Senator Swanson of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, was in New York for conferences with James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic National committee. His next scheduled stop was Albany, where he said presidential and senatorial campaign plans will be reviewed with Governor Roosevelt.

Only yesterday Senator Watson, the Republican leader, and Senator Hatfield, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, conferred with President Hoover and reported that senatorial contests had been surveyed.

Watson said the drive will direct their principal efforts for the congressional elections still was a matter of speculation to capital observers. But Watson, a candidate for reelection in Indiana, gave it as his opinion that senatorial campaigns could be coordinated with the presidential drive.

The Republican leader further said he believed Indiana, Illinois and Ohio should be a major battleground. In the first two states, Republican senators are up for reelection. In Ohio, the Democratic seat of Senator Buckley is on trial this year.

"Close Question"—Watson also told newspapermen that whether a Republican senate majority would be maintained after November was "a very close question." To the same query Hatfield replied affirmatively, adding: "Conditions are getting better right along."

Congress today is divided by the closest margin since the restless period of the war-time change from Democratic to Republican rule. Democrats hold a narrow edge, but the narrowness of the senate has been cut to actual equality by the recent death of Senator Waterman of Colorado.

With congress so evenly divided it is regarded as a possibility in discussions of capital observers—Hoover or Roosevelt—may have a congress under domination of the opposite party.

Both parties have lost some of their old standbys in both the house and senate in the primary contests already held. The election lands many more of the elder statesmen on trial.

Senators Watson, Smoot of Utah, and Bingham of Connecticut, have been put forward again by the Republicans of their states. Jones of Washington, and Moses of New Hampshire, are in line for re-election. Fletcher of Florida, a Democrat, is a runoff contest for his seat on the Democratic side.

Asked his opinion of his own outlook for reelection, Watson said at first he was "not sure."

"With the present trend, with our organization and morale we feel that Indiana is safe from a Republican standpoint."

Pictures just as confident have been painted by Democratic campaigners in public statements. A real contest seems certain.

Many Families Move This Month

Residence Shifting Is Frequent Now, Dray Companies Report

This is the month when curtains get cut down to the size of smaller windows, when carpets get "pieced" to fit a larger floor, when telephone numbers get changed, and light, gas and water companies are constantly shifting off this connection and opening that one.

This is moving month, and according to moving companies, there is more residence shifting this year than ever before. During the last two weeks more families have moved than during the past three months. In most cases the change is made because families have found cheaper quarters, and because they are anxious to get settled in their new homes so their youngsters can attend the proper school during the first part of the term.

While there is a rush in the local moving business, long distance moving has fallen off to a marked degree. This is probably due to the fact that few people have any confidence in "greener pastures" these days, and unless a job actually is moving, most families are cautiously staying near the home fires.

Valley Funeral Men To Meet at Manitowoc

The Fox River Valley Funeral Directors and Embalmers association will meet Monday evening at the Elks club at Manitowoc. A dinner of $3.00 will precede the address by Perry O. Powell of Milwaukee, executive director of the Wisconsin Funeral Directors' association.

Those from Appleton who will attend are Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schommer, and Mr. and Mrs. George Buesing.

Injured Hoosier Pilot Ready for New Flights

Madisonville, Ind.—(AP)—Clarence L. McElroy, the Hoosier pilot who was shot in a Mexican jungle 17 days ago, is ready to fly again. Although still using crutches because of a broken leg, he is confident he is strong enough to handle a plane and has agreed to give exhibition flights at a community fair opening here today.

Firemen Called to Put Out Two Blazes

Firemen were called out twice yesterday afternoon within five minutes, but in neither case was the fire of a serious nature. The first call was received at 2:40 p. m. to the corner of Meade and Commercial streets, where a grass fire was threatening nearby buildings. The blaze was put out with brooms. The next call came in at 2:45 p. m. from 332 W. College where a rubbish fire was threatening surrounding buildings.

Record Crowd at Madison to Hear Kohler Pan Phil

Speaker Pledges Adequate Relief but "Nothing for Jackpot"

Madison (AP)—The largest crowd that ever attended a political gathering—estimated variously at 10,000 to 12,000—sat out in the cool, damp air at Chilton stadium last night and heard former Gov. Walter J. Kohler declare his stand on unemployment relief.

The candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination said that if it is humanly possible to prevent it, no one in Wisconsin will go hungry, that adequate funds will be provided for the aid of those in need "but there will be nothing left over for the political jackpot."

Mr. Kohler's hearers were concentrated in the bend of the great University Wisconsin horseshoe, two giant floodlights playing down upon them. The chilly night air required an overcoat for comfort.

Out on the grassy football turf, centered between the sidelines and just this side of the 50 yard mark was the speaking stand. It was shrouded in orange light and equipped with loud speakers.

In this setting Mr. Kohler invaded the home town of his opponent Gov. Philip F. LaFollette and was received by an audience made up of both conservatives and Progressives but predominantly friendly to him.

The speaker's renewed attacks on the LaFollette administration were directed at the Wisconsin legislature, talking several thousand poured in to shake hands.

Mr. Kohler was the first of the two Republican candidates for governor to appear publicly in the capital city in a campaign role. Governor LaFollette will speak here, too, possibly in his campaign wing.

Mr. Kohler told how he proposes to obtain funds for unemployment relief. He said: "Funds will be provided as far as possible by cutting other cost of government to the limit. Persons having an income must pay whatever income tax may be necessary to provide additional funds for the relief of our unemployed."

He said that the legislature in 1929 that there is no substitute for work and that public projects should be intelligently planned for times of depression.

"You may be sure however, that under my administration relief funds will not be spent for $50 a day real estate appraisers and for roller coaster right of way and erection costing a huge sum and giving relatively little employment," he said.

"More important than public works is the encouragement of private employment. It is important to remember that the Kohler company in 1931 provided approximately 24 times as much employment to Wisconsin residents as the present governor claims to have furnished on his entire grade crossing program during all of 1931 and through June, 1932."

"The Chevrolet and Fisher body plants at Janesville which are leaving the state because they say they can no longer operate economically under the present and proposed program of the present governor would also furnish more work in one year, running 40 hours a week than the entire LaFollette grade crossing program has furnished in 15 months. These are just two examples but they indicate what an important factor private employment is."

Against Bond Issues—Declaring himself against proposals for bond issues for public works Mr. Kohler said:

"One of our most valuable safeguards against public extravagance is the right of citizens to vote on bond issues. Under the terms of the original LaFollette bill local governments, whipped on by the state administration could embark on an orgy of borrowing, subject only to the approval of the Etern committee and without the consent of local citizens who would have to pay the bonds in 40 years."

Mr. Kohler spoke at length about "the governor's political school," an organization meeting here at the start of the campaign. He charged that half of those attending were on the state payroll "and the other half wanted to get on."

He said that the law aimed at keeping state employees out of politics "had been violated in spirit and I'm not so sure the legal aspects were not violated."

Mr. Kohler made only brief reference to the failure of the Capital City Building in Madison.

When he urged the election of all other conservative candidates, a number of whom were on the platform with him, spectators observed that the name of John B.

PROPAGANDA AND RECOVERY

Up to this point the really effective contributions to recovery made by governments have been the politically difficult ones. It took foresight and courage to defend the dollar and the national credit, to put an end to reparations and to carry through the British debt conversion. The doing of these things has actually mattered and has undoubtedly released recuperative forces within the world. But there still remain equally difficult political obstructions to deal with before anything like a complete recuperation can be expected. Our own Federal finances are by no means in order. The railroads are sick. The war debts still impend. The international currency system is seriously deranged. The commerce of the world is blocked by tariffs and other barriers as it has never been blocked before in modern times. Leaving aside all consideration of what men will demand that there be done to make a more secure economic order for the future, these problems must be dealt with to provide relief from the misery and poverty which now afflict so many.

It is to these problems that the government ought primarily to address itself. They are the problems that only government can deal with. The railroads can determine for themselves whether they need new equipment, but they cannot do anything about the governmental problems which vex mankind. Yet because these problems are saturated with prejudice, the disposition of politicians is to make themselves very busy about something else. Thus Mr. Roosevelt is eloquent about the follies of the swindles of the inflation and Mr. Hoover is conferring and organizing mightily to stimulate business men to do the things which world events and their own readjusted positions would have led them to do anyway.

Great is the temptation to avoid these problems. There is no political risk in holding conferences, or in dishing out public credit, but it is a different matter to undertake to say how paths are to be cut through the jungle of tariffs and monetary disorders, how the Federal budget is to be reduced, how the war debts are to be settled, and how the country is to manage its surplus manufacturing capacity. So difficult are these questions to a candidate for office that he can hardly endure the pain of looking at them.

It would be foolish to say that the buzz of activity in Washington is useless. There is some advantage in assembling bankers and industrialists and in making them feel their common responsibility. It also soothes the nerves of those whom Mr. H. G. Wells once described as the Gawd's akers because they rush about in time of crisis wringing their hands and crying "For Gawd's sake, let's do something." But it would not be going too far to say that while it is all very well for the Administration to set itself up as an organizer of sentiment for better business, there are distinct and vital problems in its own backyard which need prompt attention.

And perhaps, too, it would not be going too far to say that the line between assurance based upon realities and ballyhoo based upon speculations is a very narrow one, and it is very desirable that the Administration should not inadvertently cross it.

No amount of propaganda for a recovery will serve as a substitute for the solution of the problems that impede recovery. If it seems to serve as a substitute it is either dangerous and will bring a relapse or it is unnecessary. That is no less true today than it was in 1919, when the same method was tried. The only difference is that then the propaganda failed dismally and today, conditions being ripe for some recovery, the propaganda may appear to succeed.

That danger would be much less if the Administration would stop trying to blow on the sails. For the ship has a fair breeze behind it and will proceed if our government and the others will only dredge out, and get rid of, the wrecks that block the channel.

That danger would be much less if the Administration would stop trying to blow on the sails. For the ship has a fair breeze behind it and will proceed if our government and the others will only dredge out, and get rid of, the wrecks that block the channel.

Man Arrested in Chilton Fire Case

Admits Series of Attacks Against Fox, Officials Report

Following his arrest and questioning by W. E. Finnegan, Green Bay, Wis., fire marshal, and Gerhard Jensen, sheriff of Calumet county, Wednesday night, Ray Winninger, 37, confessed to setting fire Tuesday morning to the building owned by Mrs. Tina Bell and occupied by the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and the law office of Leo P. Fox, Democratic candidate for governor. The officers announced. He also confessed to throwing rocks and a bottle of creosote through the windows and doors of the building on two previous occasions.

Winninger was arrested at the Ed Gard farm in the town of Chilton, where he resides. Questioned as to his motive he said that he thought someone was trying to poison him and suspected Jerome Fox, who shares the office over the store with his father.

Following an insanity hearing this morning, Winninger was found insane and taken to the Northern hospital at Oshkosh.

Hold Interclub Kiwanis Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua L. Johns, Algoma, Honor Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua L. Johns of Algoma, former residents of Appleton, were honor guests at an interclub Kiwanis meeting at the Conway hotel Wednesday evening. Mr. Johns was recently elected vice president of Kiwanis International.

Speeches were given by Mr. Johns, Dr. C. M. Gleason of Manitowoc, Lieutenant governor of the eastern district, and William Faulstich, Madison district governor. Fred Schlitz acted as toastmaster.

Following the speeches artists from the Orpheum circuit, the Kuehn family, provided entertainment. The three youngsters in the Kuehn family all have appeared in moving pictures, one as the drummer boy in a Mickey Mouse picture, one as "Bobby," and the third played with Marie Dressler in "Emma."

One hundred Kiwanians and their wives from the Appleton, Seymour and Chilton clubs were present.

In observance of the twenty-second wedding anniversary of the Johns, which occurred yesterday, Mrs. Johns was presented with a gift.

Clerk Opens Office At Night for Voters

For the benefit of voters who are unable to register during the day, the offices of the city clerk will be kept open from 6:30 to 8 o'clock Friday evening. No more registrations will be taken after the clerk's office closes Friday night, as the next day the stenographers must begin preparing the lists for the polls.

All persons 21 years or over who have never registered in Appleton or who have been registered but have not voted in the past two years must be registered before they can vote at the polls on Sept. 20. Persons who have moved from one ward to another or from one precinct to another must notify the clerk of the change in address, or their names will be left on the registry of the ward in which they previously lived.

Persons who are not registered must be registered at the polls, a process which involves the presence of a notary public and two property holders in the precinct in which the vote is being cast.

Governor Points To State Efforts To Help Farmers

Phil Declares Federal Administration has "Utterly Failed"

(By the Associated Press)

Gov. Philip F. LaFollette told an audience at Port Washington last night that the Progressive state administration has taken important steps to alleviate the plight of the farmer while the federal administration has "utterly failed" to offer relief for agriculture.

The governor said the Progressive program for Wisconsin farmers includes a $14,000,000 reduction in property taxes by resorting to income taxes; initiation of a wise land policy aimed at assigning every acre to its best use; and encouragement of co-operative farm organizations.

The United States tariff policy, he said, has increased prices farmers must pay for commodities they buy without affording effective protection for farm products.

Senator Robert M. LaFollette, campaigning in behalf of the Progressive ticket, said at Rice Lake last night that an agricultural panic has been growing since 1920 and that a policy of deflation has cost farmers of the United States $15,000,000,000.

If there is any stalwart in Rice Lake who believes you can deflate the farmers, who are the managers of our country's basic industry, agriculture, to the tune of $15,000,000,000 and still prevent the merchants and manufacturers from keeping their books in red ink, then I do not understand how your mind works and we might as well drop the argument right now, the senator said.

Chapple Flays Blaine

John B. Chapple, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator, told members of the Linton club at the Milwaukee State Teachers' college last night that Senator John J. Blaine "raided" the federal treasury to the extent of $10 to $20 a day to pay representatives of the Progressive faction in Wisconsin attached to the senate sub-committee investigating postoffice sites.

"Among the beneficiaries of Senator Blaine's benevolence with the federal treasury was Fred M. Wylie of Madison, and Mrs. Wylie, who between them have drawn as much as $794.17 in a single month," Chapple said. "At the same time Mr. Wylie is deputy attorney general under Governor LaFollette."

Chapple said "another beneficiary of a job at the rate of $10 a day" was Donald R. Heggy of LaCrosse, who was Senator Blaine's chauffeur in the last campaign and who was listed on the committee payroll as an "advisor."

The entire year's expense of this "obscure special committee," Chapple estimated, was about $21,500.

Edward J. Samp, candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, said at Marinette last night that on the basis of an argument used by his opponent 10 years ago he should be retired from office.

Ten years ago the present state treasurer urged the voters of Wisconsin to elect him over the then treasurer on the grounds that it is not good business to allow one state treasurer to remain in office too long," Samp said. "The present office holder has been drawing his pay from the state for a decade, and if his argument was correct at that time, why not apply it now?"

Rooster Sought as Public Enemy by Police in Chicago

Chicago (AP)—Gangland activities in Chicago having subsided, the police were looking today for a new public enemy. It's a rooster.

Eleven letters and 87 telephone complaints about the boisterous voice of the bird were received from residents of the neighborhood in which the rooster does his crowing. "He's been keeping babies, nervous women and strong men awake," said one complainant. "We'll get that bird," said Detective Earl Flannery, "if we have to pursue him from Chicago to Evanston. He's a public enemy."

For the congressional returns this year will not merely decide who is to control capital hill after next March. They will determine also whether republican dominance in the present senate is to continue or whether the democrats are to have majorities in both branches immediately the December session begins.

The voters of New Jersey and Colorado, where special senatorial elections are to be held, will answer this particular question. The senators elected in these two states will take office immediately, filling places from which republicans have been removed by death. If the democrats win both seats, they will have a senate majority to match their dominance in the house.

Several house vacancies also are to be filled at the November election, but their number is too small to indicate the possibility of a democratic upset.

Deaths Hit G. O. P.

The circumstances making political turn-over of the watermelon party in the midst of a congressional tenure have few parallels in history.

The republicans organized that branch of congress last fall with the narrowest of majorities. The death of Senator Dwight Morrow of New Jersey was followed by the appointment of another republican, Senator W. W. Borah, to serve only until a successor was elected.

The recent death of the republican senator Charles W. Waterman of Colorado left the lineup 47 republicans, 47 democrats, 1 farmer-labor, 1 vacancy.

Now both New Jersey and Colorado are concededly debatable states in 1932. In the most recent state elections they both returned heavy democratic majorities.

One possibility is that the democrats may find themselves with a clear senate majority in December, but still decide not to take actual control.

Should the republicans capture the new congress, for instance, the democratic managers might see little point in assuming senate control and responsibility just for the period from December until March.

With the majority, of course, they could take over such control at any time they wanted it. Theoretically the present republican-dominated committees have been appointed for the duration of the congress, or until March, but a motion to reorganize always is in order.

The spectacle of a democratic senate with republicans in all the responsible positions would be a novelty, but it might work about as well as the present system, for neither party has demonstrated an ability to hold its lines on legislation, and cliques and blocs rather than parties are the controlling elements.

Wouldn't Have To Wait

A democratic sweep in November, however, would enable the party to put into practice on capitol hill in December the central principle of the "lame duck" amendment, under which defeated parties are to pass at once out of power.

Democrats Hope To Have Helm at December Session

Seek to Accomplish Purposes of Lame Duck Amendment at Once

BY BYRON PRICE

Washington—It probably will be another four years before the "lame duck" amendment becomes effective, but the democrats now aspire to achieve some of its practical purposes right after the 1932 elections.

For the congressional returns this year will not merely decide who is to control capital hill after next March. They will determine also whether republican dominance in the present senate is to continue or whether the democrats are to have majorities in both branches immediately the December session begins.

The voters of New Jersey and Colorado, where special senatorial elections are to be held, will answer this particular question. The senators elected in these two states will take office immediately, filling places from which republicans have been removed by death. If the democrats win both seats, they will have a senate majority to match their dominance in the house.

Several house vacancies also are to be filled at the November election, but their number is too small to indicate the possibility of a democratic upset.

Outagamie-co Crops Above Average for Thirteen Counties

Crops in Outagamie and Winnebago counties are exceptionally good and are far above the average for the 13 counties in the district covered by T. A. Thatcher, field inspector for the federal seed loan office at Minneapolis. Thatcher said today that Outagamie-co farmers are in far better condition than are farmers throughout most of his district, which covers the central and western section of the state.

Counties in Thatcher's district include: Outagamie, Winnebago, Shawano, Marathon, Winneago, Waushara, Marquette, Green Lake, Juntura, Adams, Wood, Portage and Waupuna. In Langlade-co, Thatcher pointed out, the potato crop would not be more than 25 per cent of a normal crop.

Thatcher said that about 140 seed loans had been made to farmers in Outagamie-co and that he expected most of these would be paid when the crops came due on Nov. 30. Many farmers already have paid part or all of their loans, he said.

Plans for the public auction of autographed first editions to be held in connection with the annual convention of the Wisconsin Library association in Appleton Oct. 5 and 6, were discussed at a meeting of the local convention committee at the Appleton Public Library Wednesday morning.

Two large boxes of books, all of them first editions and most of them autographed by the living authors, have been received at the library. In a week or two they will be displayed by Norman Bassett of Madison, who is in charge of the convention auction, in Milwaukee, and after the exhibit there they will be returned to Appleton and exhibited for the week of the convention in the Pettibone-Peabody window.

Among the books already received is, "Saints and Sinners" by Gamaliel Bradford, sent by his widow. Gamaliel Bradford died April 11, but because his widow wished to contribute to the auction she sent a first edition of "Saints and Sinners" with a signature from an old check pasted on the flyleaf.

There is a complete set of Edna Ferber, "Adam and Eve" by John Erskine, "Westward Passage" by Margaret Ayer Barnes, "Dido Queen of Hearts" and "The Sophisticates" by Gertrude Atherton, "Youth Points the Way" by Douglas Fairbanks, signed by both the author and Mary Pickford, "A Son of the Middle Border" by Hamlin Garland, and "The Servant in the House" by Charles Rann Kennedy.

James Branch Cabell sent a first edition of "The Way of Eben," but refused to autograph it, explaining that an agreement with his publishers prevented him from doing so.

Proceeds from the auction will go toward establishing a scholarship for library students.

President Hoover still would have the veto, but it is doubtful how liberally he would use it under the circumstances.

LOST: 10 years of Happiness

THEIRS was a real love match. Both were young... eager... full of life. They had planned for a future bountifully blessed with happiness. But what a change the last few months had wrought! Before her very eyes he had seemingly grown ten years older. In looks, in habits, in desires!

Ask him what's wrong and he hasn't the slightest idea. Yet it's pathetically simple. His body is doped with accumulated poisons. Without knowing it, he has fallen victim to that modern malady which doctors call ASTHENIA.

Without knowing it—that's the alarming thing about ASTHENIA! It drags you down... it slows your mind... it robs you of your joys and pleasures. Yet all the while you hardly realize you are slipping.

Millions are in just that plight today. They toss and turn at night, wake up with a headache, drag through the day feeling dull, depressed and in constant fear that something serious is wrong with them.

Are you a victim of this health-destrating blight? Don't think because you're "frustrated" that you're immune. Physicians will tell you that daily elimination not only must be "regular"... it must be complete. Otherwise poisons gradually accumulate... breed by millions of micro-organisms in the digestive tract. Little by little these poisons seep into the blood stream. Then comes that half-alive feeling... the danger signal of Asthenia.

If you feel tired, listless, irritable... if your work weighs you down, decide today to rid yourself of Asthenia and stay rid of it! You can do so easily in 10 days' time.

Buy a bottle of Pluto Water and take it as directed—one-fifth glass in fourths glass of hot water—every morning for 10 mornings. Don't miss a day—for 10 days! You'll be amazed how this gentle treatment will change your entire viewpoint... make you see a new world in ten days!

After that—take Pluto Water every Sunday morning regularly, and you'll find that you do everything with new vigor and pleasure.

Then you'll understand why for nearly 90 years, from all over the world, people have traveled to French Lick Springs for this famous 10-day Pluto Water treatment. Why physicians recommend Pluto Water as a mild, agreeable and effective laxative—non-drying and non-habit forming. Consider also that by actual comparison Pluto Water is the least expensive laxative that you can take.

PLUTO WATER ends ASTHENIA—the want of strength... debility... diminution of the vital forces—often due to intestinal micro-organisms. Pluto Water—America's Laxative Mineral.

Water is recommended by doctors everywhere. It is bottled and sealed at French Lick Springs, Ind., French Lick, Indiana—America's Great Health Resort. In 2 sizes—20c and 60c.

Contract Let By Council for Light Systems

Installation on Three
Streets to be Started
At Once

Contract for installation of ornamental lighting systems on Appleton, Superior and Washington-sts was awarded to the Art Killgren Electric company by the common council Wednesday night after arrangements were made to change the setup on Washington-st. Both the lighting work and the widening of Superior-st, ordered several months ago, probably will begin at once.

Property owners on Washington-st, at the public hearing held in connection with the council meeting, protested against the installation of lights on that street under the plan adopted by the council. Stating that taxpayers on the street had never petitioned for the lights, and had never been consulted about the matter, Gustave Keller, appearing in their behalf, explained that the protest would be withdrawn if Washington-st were accorded the same privileges as the other two streets. He asked that all overhead poles and wires be removed, and that four lights be installed on each side of the street, rather than two, as previously planned.

Assessment Changed

The council voted to add the two lights, and changed the assessment of $1.35 per foot for Washington-st property owners to $1.55 per foot, the same rate charged on the other two streets. The street lighting committee was instructed to arrange for the passage of electric lines from Appleton and Superior sts in the block between College-ave and Washington-st.

The Washington-st protest was signed by the Catholic Home, Schommer Funeral home, William Nehls, Appleton Hotel, and F. W. Hauert and Son. It was pointed out that the position of the Wisconsin Telephone company is neutral.

The matter of a single light over the culvert on Jefferson-st caused more of a rumormongering than the installation of the three ornamental systems. Accusations of ward politics and venous personal attacks trailed the objection of Oren Earle, chairman of the street lighting committee, to the recommendation made by the committee that the light be installed. Alderman George Brautigan chastised the ordinance committee for stepping on the street lighting committee's toes by invading the Fourth ward for an inspection of the location, and suggested that if the ordinance committee felt it could do the work better it might be well for it to take over the duties of the street lighting committee.

Argument Develops

Practically every member of the council, probably because of the inspection trips of both committees, has something to say about the light. Alderman Brautigan was so vehement in his argument for the light, as Alderman Earle was against it, Alderman Mike Steinhauer said the property owners should have what they asked for. Alderman R. F. McGillan felt that to be consistent the council should also refuse the light on Pierce-ave and Front-st, and Alderman C. O. Davis contended there was no need for the light.

Alderman Wenzel Hassman argued that after the trees had been trimmed the lights now on

Warning Issued on Double Parking in Business Streets

Police Chief George T. Prim today issued a warning to Appleton motorists against the ever-growing practice of parking double on the streets in the business section. The chief points out that this offense is growing particularly on busy nights and days when all parking places are taken. Several arrests were made last week, the chief pointed out, and more will be made unless motorists discontinue this practice.

The street could be distributed to give the proper amount of light, Alderman Vogt pointed out that there are now five lights within 1,800 feet on the street, and that an additional one would be an extravagance, and Alderman C. D. Thompson charged that the aldermen were using lights for political purposes, saying that obtaining a light for a certain section of the street seemed to be the easiest way for an alderman to make friends.

Mayor John Goodland, Jr., felt that lights on Jefferson-st could be moved to provide adequate illumination, and suggested that the entire system of lights be investigated with a view to cutting out a number of unnecessary lights. He referred to the situation in Horicon, where half the street lights have been eliminated, and intimated that it might be a good idea to decrease the power of all street lights now in use.

The vote on the light was 7 to 5, Alderman Brautigan, Fernal, Gmeiner, Kittner, McGillan, Prieb, and Steinhauer voting in favor of its installation.

2 Sea Scouting Units Organized In Valley Council

Water Program for Older Boys Meeting with Con- siderable Success

Sea scouting, another phase of boy scout work, has been introduced into the Valley council, according to M. G. Clark, Valley council executive. A ship and patrol have been registered with national headquarters. The ship, which corresponds with a scout troop, is located at Neenah, and the patrol is a part of Oney Johnston legion post scout troop.

Sea scouting is an older boys' water program, Mr. Clark said. William Wright is skipper of the Neenah ship which is called the Defender, and James Shea is the mate. The sponsors are Knox Kimberly, W. H. Miner, Hugh Strange, Dr. T. B. Smith and Cyril A. Peerenboom, all of Neenah and Menasha.

The boys whose ages range from 17 to 19 years and who have been equipped with uniforms and have learned enough to sail in junior yacht races on Lake Winnebago are Daniel Art, John Art, Jr., Mike Donovan, Al Graef, Charles W. Hanson, Robert H. Larsen, Don Raiche, Robert Sage, John Schmeier, Ora Simmons, Harold Smith, Hugh Strange, Jr., and Lowell Zabel. Next spring it is expected the boys will have yachts of their own to sail.

Instead of studying principles of woodcraft and similar land programs of scouting, the boys devote

Expect Crowd Will Hear Blaine Tonight

A large crowd is expected at Pierce park tonight to hear United States Senator John J. Blaine in his appeal for reelection. The meeting, which will start at 8 o'clock, is being arranged by the Outagamie County Farmer-Labor and Progressive league. Senator Blaine also was scheduled to speak in Kaukauna at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and at Little Chute at 5 o'clock. Progressive candidates for the state senate and assembly are accompanying Mr. Blaine.

all their time to studying a water program.

The Oney Johnston troop patrol of Appleton is called the Argo patrol. It is headed by Erich Baier, a former navy man. Members of the patrol are George Acker, Edward Everlein, Russell Falk, Jack Feave, Donald Hamilton, Wm. Nelson, Wilbur Nelson, Frank Schoonenberg, Anthony Vandenberg, John Vandenberg, Robert Wichman, Robert Wilson and Anthony Koltisch.

During the boat races at Little Lake Butte des Morts several weeks ago, members of the Neenah ship were aboard the Ernst Mahler motor cruiser and took part in the program by raising signal flags and carrying on contact regarding affairs at their particular end of the course and the judges' stand.

Tammany Uneasy As McKee Takes Walker's Place

New Mayor of New York Direct Opposite of His Predecessor

BY PAUL HARRISON

New York — If there is anything in a nickname, Tammany Hall may face some uneasy times during the administration of Joseph V. McKee, who assumed the mayoralty of New York City when James J. Walker resigned.

For behind his back, they call him "Holy Joe."

And now that the flurry of the Seabury investigation and Walker trial no longer obscure the municipal perspective, there is a growing realization that McKee long has been something of a thorn in the lean ribs of "Playboy Jimmy."

Also that many of the policies and practices which have recently been investigated were originally attacked and partially brought to light by McKee himself, working in his obscure and quiet way as president of the board of aldermen.

An Independent Politician

In the past, Tammany has claimed McKee as its own, although strictly speaking he is not a Tammany man. He is a canny and scholarly Scotsman from the Bronx, and always has entertained some ideas of his own about political independence.

Nor is he any novice at the mayoralty job. During the many prolonged absences of Walker, McKee automatically became Acting Mayor, and as such did not hesitate to push his own policies and disagree with some of Walker's ideas.

In striking personal contrast to the former Mayor, McKee dresses conservatively, talks little, shuns night clubs, keeps appointments promptly, puts in a full day's hard work at his office, and dislikes welcoming celebrities and laying cornerstones.

He is a lawyer and a university graduate with four degrees. He has taught Greek, Latin and literature at Fordham University, has written numerous magazine articles and is almost as puzzled as Tammany Hall itself by his success in politics.

He Gets the Votes

With none of the emotional appeal of an Al Smith or a Jimmy Walker, he has turned out to be the most powerful vote-puller of any of his associates. In 1929, running for the presidency of the board of aldermen, he led the ticket, polling 6000 more votes than Walker and lending strength to predictions that he some day would become either mayor of New York City or governor of the state.

Only 43 now, and the youngest man ever to act in what has been called "the second biggest job in the United States," Mayor McKee was only 29 when he first was elected to the state assembly. He served until 1924, refused to run again, and was appointed by Alfred E. Smith to the city court bench. But his youth proved an embarrassment to him, and in 1925 he became head of the board of aldermen, defeating seasoned city politicians by nearly half a million majority.

While presiding with an iron hand over that once-boisterous body, McKee made many proposals for which Walker received public credit. He discovered that hospitals were crowded, and a $15,000,000 building program remedied that. He studied traffic problems and recommended certain new arteries and bridges. These have been, or are being, built. He proposed a municipal airport, and New York now has Floyd Bennett Field.

City pier leases, which later turned into something of a scandal, and dishonesty in the building of schools, were exposed by "Holy Joe." He charged favoritism in the awarding of sewer contracts. He blocked certain bus franchises, a subject which was a major matter of scrutiny during the recent Seabury investigation.

He says he has only one political motive: "To render honest, efficient and unselfish public service." And nobody, so far, has been able to dispute it.

A BIG BONUS IN TIRE MILEAGE

TEMPERED RUBBER

... GIVES YOU 7 TO 15 PER CENT MORE MILES ... YET DOESN'T COST A CENT MORE

Talk about extra value—at no extra cost! Here's PROOF of a big bonus in tire mileage that goes to every buyer of U.S. Royal Tires. The Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory, a nationally known organization working with staff members of ten leading universities, conducted a tread wear test on the four leading makes of tires. The findings revealed the fact that U.S. Tires actually give 7 per cent to 15 per cent more mileage. Yet, U.S. Tires, built with Tempered Rubber, cost not one cent more than tires of lesser durability. So, if you're looking for extra value in tires... come in and get the facts on U.S. Tires—built with Tempered Rubber.

FARMERS' HOLIDAY
The course of the proposed farmers' holiday or strike in Wisconsin appears uncertain.

It seemed that the general proposal to have farmers stop selling until a fair price was secured had many elements that might turn into lasting harm. There were the farm co-operatives that had regular outlets for their products. Those outlets of course should be maintained because if they were lost they might be lost permanently.

Leaders who had the best interests of the farmers at heart called attention to cooperatives like Land o' Lakes "that has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars to open up markets for its products." When Land o' Lakes declared that such a strike would break its organization and do more harm to it than a competitor with a million dollars to spend, it raised a substantial barrier to a statewide strike, at least without conditions.

Leaders also called attention to the usual cooperative creamery that may have been selling its product for a long period of years through the same channel. Were its farmers to join the strike the creamery's customers would have to find new sources of supply and if they did, that particular creamery might lose a connection of great value and for all time.

If the idea of this holiday is to be pursued it would seem advisable, even indispensable, to take care of existing customers lest the holiday do more harm than good.

The first principle in any difficulty is to preserve what we have. To throw good business into the river would be foolhardy.

THE RADICAL CONSERVATIVE

Levi H. Bancroft continues to play that nectarine air, "Homes should not be taxed anything," which is just another form of political morphine, enough of which has already been injected into the people of Wisconsin. It is as impractical and visionary as the most extreme plank in the Socialist platform.

At Arcadia Mr. Bancroft berated Senator Blaine because the latter, when governor, signed the repeal of a law which provided for a $500 exemption on homesteads. From the news item we cannot gather with certainty whether Mr. Bancroft told the whole story of the law. It was Mr. Blaine who originated the idea and, because his own political faction found it utterly unworkable, and worse, he had to reluctantly consent to its abandonment. Mr. Bancroft furnishes us with an example of a regular Republican candidate picking up a Progressive idea that even the impractical Mr. Blaine had to admit was worthless.

If another Progressive did this Mr. Bancroft would be likely to make a monkey out of him—or perhaps a communist. The purposeful exemption from all taxation of valuable property which is practical to tax, the use of which is worth money, and the sale of which often brings fine profits, will solve Wisconsin's problems just as surely as a drowning man prays for deeper water.

A 1932 HERO

Add to the list of unusual heroes the name of Motorman William Lang, a gray-haired veteran of the gleaming rails who for the past 33 years has been employed by an electric interurban line operating between Cleveland and Toledo.

Maybe you read the story of what he did, and maybe you didn't—for such items have a habit of getting buried in the mass of daily news about revolutions in some far-off country, endurance flyers, channel swimmers and things like that. Therefore, we'll refresh your memory as to what Motorman Lang did:

The fast Cleveland-Toledo limited, which Motorman Lang was piloting, rounded a curve at 55 miles an hour near Lorain, Ohio. In the middle of the track, with the onrushing electric car bearing down on it, Lang saw a small child, Leila Smith, 2 years old, had toddled away from her nearby home and chosen the track as a nice place to play with her dolly.

Instantly, Lang slapped on his air brakes, gave sand to the grinding wheels, threw the motor into reverse. But, as he realized, even that wasn't enough to stop the heavy interurban car in time.

Lang left the cab of his speeding car and climbed out on front. Clinging with one hand, he reached down with the other,

Two baby arms raised above a terrified child's face, reached up to him. He grasped the child and snatched her into his arms, held her there safely until the big interurban car finally came to a stop a hundred feet further on. Leila was unconscious from the shock of the impact but she was still alive.

The world will forget, as the world has a habit of doing, the name of William Lang—but for little Leila Smith, if she lives to be 100, no story-book hero can ever take the place of William Lang, who risked his life to save her.

FREE COUNTRIES

The German social newspaper Vorwarts has been suspended for a time from publication because it made the charge that Chancellor von Papen's program was "against the constitution." Another newspaper, the Berliner Abendblatt was also suspended because it published a cartoon in which the chancellor's wife was saying to her lordly husband across the breakfast table, "What kind of a new emergency decree did you decide upon for today?"

Meanwhile the new socialist government in Chile has prohibited the publication of a leading Santiago newspaper because it referred to the government's five-year plan as a "five-minute plan."

It is hard to get a smile, to say nothing of a laugh, out of tyrants and dictators, for, the world over, and whether socialist or monarchial, they appear to be constantly driven by two great emotions, fear and pride.

If their plans are shaky fear whispers that it were advisable to stuff up the mouth of honest discussion; and if they have faith in their own program pride suggests that it would be ignoble and disgraceful for the plans of mighty rulers to be submitted to common folk and rolled in the dust.

But "drest in a little brief authority" they continue to play "such fantastic tricks before high heaven as make the angels weep."

MANCHUKUO PROMISES AID TO ANDREWS

Roy Chapman Andrews of the American Museum of Natural History is one American who will approve of Japanese encroachments in Manchuria and Inner Mongolia.

Mr. Andrews has led five expeditions into the Gobi desert section of Mongolia which he and other scientists believe to be the oldest geologic spot on the earth, thus leading to the logical conclusion that here evidence should be found that will take the history of man back many hundreds of thousands of years. In fact Mr. Andrews believes he can find there evidence of man's existence in the Pleiocene Age, which period dates back over a million years. He has already discovered the remains of mammals that formerly existed only in scientific theories.

Having established early this year headquarters at Peiping for another expedition of great scientific importance into Mongolia, Mr. Andrews suddenly met opposition from the Chinese government which had heretofore given him full cooperation and assistance. It refused him permission to continue his search for early man, claiming that these explorations should be conducted wholly under the direction of Chinese scientists.

Announcement is now made that Mr. Andrews has moved his headquarters from Peiping to Mukden, Manchuria, having received assurance from the Foreign office of the new Manchukuo government that it would welcome the expedition and promising to cooperate fully with him in his efforts to unearth the Pleiocene man.

The difficulties met with on former expeditions have been great. The Gobi desert region is overrun with bandits who care nothing for science and the disorderly state in China has but added to the hazards encountered. Manchukuoan support and assistance may facilitate the work of exploration by eliminating some of the dangers to which earlier expeditions have been subjected.

Mr. Andrews reports that Manchukuo (which means Japan) is encouraging geological and paleontological work that will prove of inestimable value to the entire scientific world. This support also logically carries the implication that Japan intends to extend the borders of Manchukuo by occupying considerable areas in Inner Mongolia where lies the Gobi desert.

PUZZLES FOR THE YOUNG
A Ph. D. thesis on the subject of the "Psychology of Puzzle Learning" written by Dr. J. Hudson Bullard for a degree at the New York University School of Education, has recently been made public by the bureau of public information.

The thesis recommends that crossword and jigsaw puzzles be included in the curriculum of elementary schools.

Maybe he wouldn't want to come back anyway. His successor has already cut the mayor's salary by $15,000 and even if Jimmy did succeed in his plan for re-election, how could he push the salary back up and get away with it?

Though Jimmy has been making for himself an income since he first became mayor which makes $15,000 seem like very small change indeed.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE BALLOT IN A STORM
A mighty storm came up at sea.
The waves ran mad mountain high.
The captain troubled seemed to be,
Though clear and calm his eye,
The frightened passengers below
Outnumbered all the crew,
And someone said: "One way I know!
Let's vote on what to do!"

"Let's vote on what we steer ahead
Or turn the ship about.
So great the gale we may be dead
Before the wind dies out."
And some there were with trembling lips
Who said with aching throats:
"It's little that we know of ships,
But still we'll cast our votes."

"I've never been to see before.
A man was heard to shout,
"But I shall vote to reach the shore,
To turn the ship about."
Another in ill-temper cried:
"A watery death I dread.
The question quickly I'll decide,
I vote to steer ahead."

A little woman calm and brave
Said: "I have children small,
Whose happy lives I want to save,
But I'll not vote at all.
Of ships no knowledge I possess.
I scarce know stern from bow;
But I prefer in our distress
To trust the captain now."

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO
Thursday, Sept. 7, 1922

By unanimous vote the common council at its meeting the previous evening passed the ordinance providing for a bond issue of $425,000 to be used for erecting and equipping two junior high schools.

Announcement had been received in Appleton of the marriage of Miss Edith Bloss, Flint, Mich., and Earl E. Engel, Appleton, which took place Aug. 28 at the home of the bride's mother.

Miss Martha H. Chandler, who had been chosen to continue the work of Miss Constance Johnson as recreational director of Appleton Woman's club, was to begin her work on Sept. 14.

Application for a marriage license was made that day by Walter A. Johnson, Rhinelander, and Veronica J. Green, Appleton.

Miss Jean Bomier had begun her work as head of the domestic science department at Little Chute high school.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sutherland and son, Philip, had returned from a ten day vacation at Chain O'Lakes, Waupaca.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Thursday, Sept. 12, 1907

Miss Nita Leona Michelstetter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Michelstetter, 439 E. College-ave, and Charles W. Brinckley, son of Prof. W. J. Brinckley, head of the department of biology at Lawrence university, were married at 8 o'clock the previous evening at the home of the bride's parents.

The marriage of Miss Louise Kehl and Emil Heideman took place the previous Tuesday afternoon at the Capuchin monastery of St. Joseph church.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bates had returned from a two weeks' visit with friends in Chicago and Michigan City, Ind.

Mrs. Ferdinand Koletzke and son, Herman, left that morning for the state fair at Milwaukee.

Prof. E. Schueller of St. Joseph church was at Dubuque, Iowa, where he was attending the annual convention of the German Roman Catholic Central society.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

HYGIENE FOR THE CURE OF HEMORRHOIDS

Cure means care of the trouble, not necessarily healing or restoration to health. In Europe the term retains its original meaning. In America it has nearly lost its original meaning.

Hemorrhoids or piles are varicose veins. An "attack" of hemorrhoids is either acute inflammation of the affected veins with or without clotting of the blood in them, or bleeding from the veins. Once you get varicose veins you'll probably always have them unless you submit to some medical or surgical treatment for their removal or obliteration. But even if you are subject to hemorrhoids you may avoid "attacks" by careful adherence to certain rules of hygiene.

The first essential for freedom from "attacks" is total abstinence from interfering with the bowel function, either by physics or by enemas. Probably it is useless for a mere health expert to attempt to advise wisecrack laymen about this, but I'm telling you. You may take the advice or leave it.

The second essential, I think, is painstaking washing and drying of the perineum regularly. Where there is a varicose condition of hemorrhoidal veins even occasional neglect of this is risky and often the price of the omission is an "attack" of piles.

Other causes or contributing factors of piles have been discussed in preceding articles.

If any reader who suffers from hemorrhoids does not understand clearly how to follow these two essential rules of hygiene I will be glad to explain any point not clear to the reader, if the reader will accompany his question with a stamped envelope bearing his address. It is very difficult to discuss the subject here, owing to the prudishness of the laity.

One subject to piles may go for many years or for the rest of his life without another "attack" if he does adhere faithfully to the two rules above laid down.

Of course there is no healing of piles (hemorrhoids) except by one or another surgical procedure which either removes the affected portions of vein or obliterates them. Likewise there is nothing about such an operation, no matter how successful or how skillfully done, that prevents the patient from developing new piles subsequently if the original causative factors are not corrected.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Lucky Family Has a Goat

Two young people I know solved the problem of good, cheap milk for their two children. They live in the suburbs. When the price of milk went up they bought a goat for $5.50 and now they have 2½ quarts of excellent milk a day. The critter finds her own feed thru a large part of the year. I think this might be a good tip for other families. (Mrs. S.)

Answer—Thank you. So do I. Own your own goat. The milk is superior to ordinary cows' milk both in nutritive value and in freedom from contamination by disease germs, especially tuberculosis. Lucky children who have fresh milk from their own goat.

A Pair of Us
I am 51 and have done clerical work since I was 14. I feel pretty good physically, but here's my trouble. Whenever I attend a movie and see an affecting scene, such as a mother pleading with a son or daughter, or perhaps a child being ill treated, or even a Christmas scene—I start crying and sobbing, so it is noticeable to others. . . . (T. B. D.)

Answer—So do I, darn it. If only a fellow could blow his nose during such scenes—but if you blow too often or too long the usher will throw you out, or the folks around you will expect you have some thing catching. I make it a rule to dress especially for pathetic pictures—I wear a strip of sponge inside my collar, and just soak up the tears as they trickle down. If you give the tears unimpeded drainage you are less apt to have one of those convulsions of the diaphragm that give you away.

Wash the Hair Every Day
I wash my hair every second or third day, and sometimes every day, and have been told it is harmful. (P. J. C.)

Answer—No more harmful than bathing every few days. In fact if it is necessary to bathe every few days or even every day, for cleanliness, surely it is as necessary to wash the scalp as often. I haven't met any bathing snobs who are so keen about cleanliness of the scalp. They think that can go for weeks at a time without a wash. If you take pains to rinse the soap out of the hair there is no harm in washing the hair as often as you wish, provided you apply a few drops of any simple oil, such as fresh castor oil, to the scalp after the shampoo, to replace the natural skin oil or hair oil removed by the washing. The Tinymites

By Hal Cochran

"SAY, we are in an awful mess," said Scouty. "We are stuck, I guess. Our car is hanging in the air and pumping does no good."

"We can't stay here for very long because the tracks don't look so strong. I'd climb right up the ties to safety, if I thought I could."

"And then I'd look around for aid, but frankly, lads, I am afraid that I might take a tumble. Gee, I feel much safer here."

"Perhaps somebody will come by and we can make them hear our cry." Then Duncy said, "I fear they won't. Oh, dear! Oh, dear! Oh, dear!"

"Oh, don't get panic-stricken, lad," said Windy. "Gee, you should be glad that we weren't pitched right into space. It could be worse than this."

"Let's just sit down and rest a bit. We'll think of some plan while we sit. We always get out safely, lads, when something goes amiss."

And so they sat down on the car. My goodness but it looked real far to trees and things that were below. "It frightens me, said one."

"I'm sorry that we took this trip. Suppose this small car should slip. You all know what would happen and it wouldn't be much fun."

Just then the bunch heard Windy say, "Gee, look what's coming down our way. Why, it's a long rope ladder. Grab a hold of it real quick."

"If we can climb up out of here, there will be nothing more to fear. Whoever let that ladder down has pulled a kindly trick."

The ladder dangled here and there. Then Scouty gave the bunch a scare by pumping up a little bit. "I've it," he cried out.

"Come on, we'll climb up to the ground and there we will be safe and sound." And so they started climbing, wondering what "was all about."

(The Tinymites meet the little block-heads in the next story.)

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington — Generally speaking, there is not a great deal of neighborliness among those high in official circles in Washington—that is, neighborliness as it is known in some other cities.

But there is one rather famous neighborhood in the capital—a three-block stretch in the northwest section at the foot of the "S" street hill, one of the most exclusive and fashionable residential districts of the city.

On one side of this three-block stretch is an unusual assembly of those who figure large in public affairs.

At the foot of the hill, the first house on the right is the home of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. It was to this house on S street that the war President returned from the White House. Here he died. The little iron-railed balcony where he made his last public appearance may still be seen.

A little farther up the street is the home of Frederick A. Delano, a man with quite a public record of his own. He is a blood kin of the democratic nominee, Governor Roosevelt, and frequently when the Governor comes to Washington he stays there.

Hoover Home Famous
At present, the most famous home in the area is a street removed up the hill to No. 2300 S street, the home of Herbert C. Hoover, Senator Walcott lived there until a few months ago, but now it is occupied by Senator Kean of New Jersey.

Kean, a wealthy banker, says that it was the only house he could find in Washington that suited him in every detail.

President Hoover lived there while he was secretary of commerce.

Further up are two beautiful new mansions standing side by side. One belongs to Senator Reed of Pennsylvania. The other is owned by his close personal friend, William R. Castle, undersecretary of state. They lived close to each other in another section of Washington before they moved to S street. Their homes next to each other perpetuate a friendship of long standing.

The Reed-Castle neighborhood friendship is little known outside, however.

Sights For Visitors
Sight-seeing buses never fail to stop at the bottom of this hill and point out the residences. There's another house in the group, too, which guides show the visitors. It is down at the foot of S street. Mr. Hoover leased it back in 1928 for his presidential campaign headquarters. But what the guides do not tell when showing this house is:

The lady from whom Mr. Hoover leased this house promptly contributed what she received for rental to the Al Smith campaign fund.

Dairy Firms Earn Profits, State Reveals

Claims That They Lost Money Untrue, Depart- ment Finds

Madison—The state department of agriculture and markets declared today it has found upon investigation that dairy companies operating in Milwaukee and Madison areas made substantial profits in the first few months of 1932 and the three prior years, notwithstanding their claims that they lost money.

The department said it investigated the operating accounts of six milk plants which it considered as being representative and as having important influence on price computations for other milk markets in the state.

These companies have kept their profits in line with sales values, even though commodity prices have gone down, the department said. It also found that the companies, in 1929, 1930 and 1931 definitely increased the combined salaries of the operators, officers, executives and stockholders.

The claim of the distributors that they have suffered a net loss on distribution of milk was said by the department to be due to a plan of payment to the farmers which results in an "artificial" loss only.

Report Two Prices

"The apparent losses on the distribution of milk result from the fact that the plan of payment to the producers call for a relatively high price for milk for city consumption and relatively low price for milk to make cream and manufactured products," a report of the investigation said.

"Regardless of the merit or demerit of this two-price system as a paying plan, it is misleading when used for computing costs. The distinction between milk for fluid purposes and other milk is artificial and at the artificially high fluid price is used in computing costs for milk sold, an artificial loss on milk appears."

The department said one Milwaukee dairy had shown a loss of $9,290.52 in its operating statement for the first three months of 1932 when profits were computed at the fluid milk price but if the actual price paid to the producers for milk is used this loss is changed to a gain of over $110,000.

"It should be clear that the distinction between prices paid for fluid milk and prices paid for the so-called surplus are artificial and should not be used as an excuse for lowering prices to the farmer and increasing the incomes of dealers," the department said.

The companies investigated included two large, two medium sized and two small plants. Two are owned by the Borden company, one by the National Dairy Products company and three by independent operators, Madison and Milwaukee.

"The Hobsons want us to come over. Shall I give them your liver as an excuse?"

were chosen for the inquiry because they are the oldest, best established and most representative markets, the department said.

Other Industries Lose
In the meantime, profits of 14 other industries, which were investigated to obtain a comparison with the milk distributing industry on the whole, showed declines from 1929 and losses ranging from low to very high percentages in 1931, the department said.

"One of the worst features connected with the history of the dairy organization during the past few years is the result of mergers and consolidations which have been taking place in the dairy industry," the report said. "It was argued in 1929 and 1930 when these mergers and consolidations occurred that they would effect economies with benefits to producers and consumers."

The actual facts as revealed by the department's investigations show clearly that those who really benefited were the operators and stockholders.

The department said that a dairy, acquired by the Borden interests since 1929, had entered a goodwill item of $2,411,578.89 on its books, representing 48 per cent of the net worth as represented by the common stock and in 1930 and 1931 declared dividends of 12 1/2 and 10 per cent on this item as well as the actual investment.

LARGEST SUBMARINE

Paris—France has been conducting extensive tests with its newest submarine, the Surcouf, which is said to be the largest in the world. It is 400 feet long and weighs 3500 tons, nearly 1000 tons more than the largest in the United States Navy. It will submerge to a depth of 430 feet.

Program of Study Club Is Resumed

THE Tuesday Study club opened its fall season with a luncheon Wednesday afternoon at the James Wood cottage on Lake Winnebago. Mrs. E. B. Goodrich and Mrs. G. E. Bohon were hostesses.

Mrs. H. J. Searles read a short story, "You Should Worry," by Caroline B. Lorenz. Nineteen members and three visitors were present.

The next meeting will be Sept. 21 at the home of Mrs. Minnie Mills, 622 N. Superior-st. The program on Western Wandering will be given by Mrs. L. F. Bushey and Mrs. John Graef.

The first meeting of Alpha Delphian chapter for the fall will take place at 2:30 Friday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. E. F. Mumm will be chairman of the program which will be on Government and the Position of Women During the Middle Ages.

Literature and Architecture will be discussed by Mrs. Fred Henritz, the Pre-Christian World will be Mrs. James DeBauer's topic, and Mrs. Roy Davis will talk on Early Christianity. Mrs. E. K. Nielsen will speak on Stoic Philosophy.

Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles entertained at a visiting day meeting Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Cards were played at ten tables and prizes were won at schafkopf by Mrs. Anna Arent, Mrs. Gust Zuehlke, Mrs. Freda Moore, and Mrs. B. Wellhouse, at dice by Mrs. Martha Deeg, and at bridge by Mrs. C. Langsdorff, Little Chute.

A business meeting will take place next Wednesday. Mrs. Anna Tornow will be chairman of the lunch.

A number of members of Deborah Rebekah lodge signified their intention of attending the district convention of Rebekahs to be held next Wednesday at Stockbridge at the meeting of the local lodge Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall.

Arrangements for celebrating the eighty-first anniversary of the Rebekahs at the next meeting in two weeks were made, and Miss Agnes Van Ryzin was appointed general chairman of the event. Twenty members were present.

Welfare work and the methods of conducting it were discussed by the Rev. Henry Head, diocesan director of the Green Bay Apostolate, in a talk before Appleton Apostolate Wednesday night at Catholic home. Plans for the annual meeting of the local group to be held sometime in October were discussed. Forty-five members were present. The next regular meeting will be the first Wednesday in October.

Mrs. Margaret Steinacker, W. Elsie-st, was hostess to the G. G. club Wednesday night at her home. Prizes were won by Mrs. A. J. Spoerl and Mrs. John Green. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Ed Massonette, 1414 W. Washington-st.

Mrs. Olive Spay, 210 S. Rankin-st, will entertain the Sunshine club at 2:15 Friday afternoon at her home. She will be assisted by Mrs. Frankie Sherry and Mrs. Myrtle Glasier.

Election of officers for the coming year will take place at the meeting of Equitable Reserve Association at 7:45 Thursday evening at Odd Fellow hall. A social hour will follow the meeting.

Building Permits

Two building permits were issued Wednesday by John N. Weiland, building inspector. They were granted to Emil Arndt, 1403 W. College-ave, two car garage, cost $100; and Fred Brochman, 813 E. Pacific-st, glass porch, cost $100.

Laurence Graduate Married at Beloit

First Methodist Episcopal church at Beloit was the scene of the wedding Monday afternoon of Miss Helen May Schlagenhau, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Ira E. Schlagenhau, Beloit, and Arthur Lawrence Bennett, son of the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Bennett, Milwaukee. The bride's father, assisted by the bridegroom's father officiated. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. O. C. Keesey, Janesville, as matron of honor, and Miss Phyllis F. Trautmann, Whitewater, maid of honor. John J. Keith, Chicago, was best man, and O. C. Keesey, William Bennett, and Harvey Schlagenhau were ushers.

Miss Elanor Schellenger presided at the organ, playing Wagner's "Tannhauser March" as the processional and Mendelssohn wedding march as the recessional. About 40 guests were entertained at the reception which followed the ceremony. Those assisting in serving were the Misses Josephine Trautmann, Mildred Claridge, and Verna Fossum. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will spend their honeymoon at Chalm O'Leakes, Waupaca, and will be at home after Oct. 1 at 1210 Wood-ward-ave, Beloit.

The bride was graduated from Beloit college in 1930 with Phi Beta Kappa honors and has been Girl Reserve secretary at the Beloit Y. W. C. A. for the past two years. She attended Lawrence college at one time. Mr. Bennett is a graduate of Lawrence college, class of 1927, and is a student in the School of Medicine at the University of Chicago.

Out of town guests at the wedding were the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Maxson, Mrs. Mary Bennett, Milwaukee; Mrs. Nellie Henbest, Miss Helen Henbest, Miss Grace Bennett and John Keith, Chicago; Mrs. Mae Blecher and Mrs. Leslie Blecher, Neenah; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hirst and Miss Ruth Logan, Madison; Mr. and Mrs. P. Trautmann and Miss Josephine Trautmann, Whitewater, and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Keesey, Janesville.

Potatoes Suggested as Winter Feed for Stock

St. Paul.—(AP)—Potatoes were suggested today as excellent feed for livestock this winter in Minnesota, by specialists at the University of Minnesota Extension division here. Pointing out that because of unusual weather conditions a large number of the tubers have been culled out under a strict grading law, they said these potatoes would make good food for cattle, swine, sheep and horses.

Hidden Money Burned After Stove is Sold

Canton, Ill.—(AP)—Business was good with James Wright, second hand dealer, but it cost him $85 to sell a stove. Fearing a robbery he put the money in a furnace stove. Then he sold the stove, forgetting the money. He hurried to the home of the buyer, but all that was left was a few coins. The rest was in ashes.

Parties

Christian Mothers' society of St. Mary church will sponsor a card party at 2:30 Friday afternoon at Columbia hall. Bridge and schafkopf will be played and Mrs. F. J. Barta and Mrs. Cornelius Crowe will be in charge.

Forty-three tables of cards and dice were in play at the card party given by Christian Mothers' society of St. Joseph church Wednesday night at the parish hall. Prizes at schafkopf were won by Henry Griesbach, Fred Stoffel, Mrs. M. Gayhart, and Mrs. Frank Probst, at bridge by Miss Elizabeth Schmidt and Mrs. P. Jacobs, at plumpack by Mrs. Elizabeth Neugebauer and Mrs. Anna Loev, and at dice by Genevieve Becher and Lucille Lorenz. Officers of the society were in charge.

Mrs. Henry Fulmer, 1008 W. Oklahoma-st, was honored at a party Tuesday night at her home at which members of her card club were guests. The occasion was her birthday anniversary. Sixteen persons were present and skat was played. Albert Luebke, Freedom, was the out of town guest.

Miss Genevieve Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Meier, 410 W. Foster-st, is observing her nineteenth birthday anniversary Thursday. She will entertain a small group of friends at her home this evening.

D. H. Gurnee won the prize at schafkopf and Mrs. J. Foetzel the dice award at the card party given by the Auxiliary to Spanish War Veterans Wednesday afternoon in the basement of Appleton State Bank. Four tables were in play.

Stresses Importance of Financial Advertising

New York.—(AP)—The importance of advertising to finance was stressed today by Francis H. Sisson, incoming president of the American Bankers' association, in an address at a luncheon of the New York Financial Advertisers.

Mr. Sisson, who is vice president of the Guaranty Trust company, said "the difficult conditions through which the financial world has passed in recent years have brought a new challenge to the financial advertiser."

"In no field of business," he added, "is there greater need for vigorous and intelligent advertising policies at present than in finance. There are two fields in which publicity can be most profitably employed by bankers at the present time. First, to sell banking service in its various ramifications on the basis of its merit and value to the business community. Second, to spread a better understanding of banking and its functions to the general public."

Film Stars Keep Trim By Exercise

DURING my recent sojourn in Hollywood, I watched the screen stars exercise and realized what an important part that plays in keeping them trim. Some of the stars practice setting-up exercises every day for fifteen minutes or more. They follow a definite routine of bending and twisting and deep breathing. Others get their exercise via outdoor sports and games. All, as I mentioned in a previous article, have some favorite outdoor hobby: skating, or swimming, golf, tennis, riding, walking, etc.

What a contrast to watch the screen luminaries who keep active regularly and persistently, and then compare them with the average person. Among your own friends and acquaintances, aren't there several who exercise in spasms? This is particularly true during the summer months. The beaches and resorts are conducive to exercise. And many young men and women have spent all day Saturday and Sunday, the past two months, exercising and straining muscles that are not accustomed to such sudden and strenuous treatment. Then, the rest of the week they either need the time to recuperate, or whether by choice or necessity, remain idle so far as muscular exercise is concerned.

Every day.

To be truly beneficial, exercise should be taken regularly, daily. If you can't do any more, walk a few miles every day. Get out in the open and walk. Get all the sunshine you can before the colder weather sets in.

Constance Bennett, that star of stars, is impatient with scheduled exercises. She likes to feel the fun in even more important to mind and body than the physical stimulation. She plays tennis every day when not in production. Spends week-ends in the mountains or at the beach, swimming for benefit and pleasure. Always tries to eat heartily, but exercises just as heartily.

Dorothy Mackall—I love her, don't you—and do you know that she is just as quick-witted and clever off the screen as on—exercises a good deal, but not routine exercise; that's tiresome, she says. Her contention is that if you get into the habit of keeping in motion, you'll find that the shape of your body will respond accordingly.

On the other hand, Claudette Colbert does fifteen minutes of calisthenics every day and spends one hour daily out in the open air.

Tellulah Bankhead likes to hike for miles every day. Frances Dee takes a long walk before retiring. Nancy Carroll likes deep breathing and bending exercises (bends fifty times at bedtime) and many of the stars regard gardening as a splendid exercise. The stretching and bending is "swell," they say, fine to keep the waistline trim.

If your vacation is over, if you can't indulge in outdoor exercises and hobbies as much as you wish, at least try some regular exercises every day. I have a general set, and a special set for troublesome parts. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for it.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of Appleton Post-Crescent enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WOOLEN JACKET DRESS NECESSARY

Here's a beauty. The jacket-like blouse can be made in either of two ways. In the large sketch, the rever neckline, which is so generally becoming and popular is just as smart as can be. The miniature view shows it in a more severe collarless type that emphasizes the buttoned closing.

The skirt is attached to a camisolote top. Inverted plaits at either side of the front, provide ample fullness.

A rum-brown tweed mixture made the original. You'll be delighted with its small cost.

It's so simple to fashion.

Wool crepe, soft monotone woolen and rough crepe silk are also suitable.

Style No. 840 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36 and 38 inches bust.

Size 18 requires 2½ yards 54-inch, with 1 yard 35-inch for camisolote and 1½ yards 39-inch lining.

Fur Collars and Scarfs for Winter Wear

Fashion news in winter coats is found above the waist this year. The model shown at left is designed by Holm of black wool with sleeves, scarf and a lower bodice of black galyak. It is topped with a black wool cape.

Detachable collars which may be worn with several costumes feature many of the smartest winter coats. The greige wool model at right has a detachable shoulder cape of black astrakhan and lower puffed sleeves of the same fur.

No Happiness in Stealing Another Woman's Husband

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am a divorcee, age 22, in love with a married man. He lives with his wife and three children. My parents just learning of it are trying to prevent a scandal. I am giving up my family to go with the married man. That's the situation. Here is the question:

Would it be better for me to marry a despised rich man? Would any one benefit by my committing suicide? Is there any way to make the wife release the husband? Would I make the married man miserable by making him choose between the children and myself? If things are to be, are they always accomplished?

PERPLEXED DIVORCEE.

Answer:

Don't you think that the answer to all of these questions is just for you to fade out of the picture and leave the married man to fulfill his obligations to his wife and children?

Perhaps this may require some self-sacrifice on your part and you may suffer for a time with a few heartaches, but in the end I think you will find a greater happiness than you will in breaking up a home and orphaning little children and in bringing shame upon your mother and father.

Suppose you face the facts squarely and try to see things as they are instead of kidding yourself into believing that things are the way you want them to be. In the first place, the man does not love you well enough to give up everything for you. You are ready to throw your cap over the windmill for him, but he is holding on to his home and his family and respectability.

Lots of married men like to philander with pretty girls. It flatters their vanity to be able to win a young girl from the boys and make her fall in love with them. They like to take young girls out and have a good time with them, and it is part of their technique to tell the girls how unhappily married they are and that their wives don't understand them or appreciate them and that there has long ceased to be any love between them and their wives. This line naturally makes the girls feel that these poor, misunderstood husbands, tied down to middle-aged wives, would simply jump at the chance to break their matrimonial bonds and marry them.

But when it comes to throwing the wives over and getting a divorce these ardent love-makers are strangely loath to do it. They make special excuses which don't bear much investigation in a day when divorces are granted for incompatibility of temper and mental cruelty which, goodness knows, anybody may suffer from without even knowing they've got it, and when Reno and Arkansas and Mexico and a dozen other shops for quickly and painlessly severing the marriage bond and in easy reach of anybody who really and honestly wants a divorce.

The fact is, my dear, that making love to a girl and getting a divorce and marrying her are two entirely different propositions, and when a man goes on living with his wife it is proof positive he wants to, no matter what he tells you. You see, the queer thing about a man is that he can be unfaithful to his wife and still love her and still adore and respect her above all other women and rate her a thousand per cent above the girl who accepts his love-making, knowing he is married.

Also, many a philandering man is devoted to his children and does not want to be parted from them. And still another reason why many a man who carries on clandestine affairs with girls doesn't want a divorce is because it hurts his business standing. Very often the wife has a powerful family backing or she is a woman who is popular and admired, and the public invariably sides with the forsaken wife and turns thumbs down on the husband and woman who broke up the home.

A married man has to be very much in love indeed with a girl to be willing to divorce his wife and marry her, but unless he is willing to do it she may be very sure he cares nothing for her and that he was just amusing himself with her and in the end he will be unfaithful to her as he was to his wife. That is why in affairs between men and girls the girl loses out.

But don't talk foolishness about committing suicide nor about marrying a despised rich man. That is old melodrama stuff that is outmoded. The thing for you to do is to forget the married man and absorb yourself in your work and wait for a cleaner love to come along.

Whether our destinies are foreordained for us or not, I do not know, but I believe that "we are the masters of our fate, the captains of our souls."

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 21 years old. My mother is dead and my father married again. I have always been petted and spoiled and done just as I please so I can't get along with my stepmother, although she would be good to me if I would

Penalty Double Strong, But Dangerous Weapon

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Penalty Doubles are among the most powerful weapons in the possession of the defending players in the game of Contract. However, there is no declaration more abused by many players than this. When the decision is a close one as to where to double or not to double an adverse contract, it is generally wise to follow the advice of the old proverb, "When in doubt, don't."

A close Penalty Double often furnishes to an alert Declarer the clue which permits the fulfillment of the contract. The hand below is an example of that fact.

North—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2NT	Pass	4NT	Pass
6NT	Double	Pass	Pass

The eventual Slam contract should never have been reached, as North, while he held 4 honor-tricks, had extremely barren distribution, but when North made the Slam invitation bid of four notrump, South, with the extra length in clubs and the fact that he held the Ace of his partner's bid suit, was justified in accepting the invitation. West's Double, holding only 1 trick, was particularly atrocious. In the play, it furnished to the Declarer the opportunity to make his contract.

The diamond 10 was opened, won in the Dummy, and the club Ace driven out at once. West then cleared the diamond suit, and South proceeded to cash 3 club tricks, discarding a spade from Dummy. The last club was not played at this time because South did not know whether West held four hearts or a stopper in spades. The next trick was won with the heart Queen in Dummy, and a small heart returned and won with the Ace in the closed hand. On this trick it was disclosed that West had held originally a singleton heart. Following this, the last club was led, and a heart discarded from Dummy. The Declarer then won a trick with the spade King, and laid down Dummy's high heart. West was hopelessly squeezed, the deuce of diamonds effectively playing the role of the squeeze card. West bared the Queen of spades, but the finesse was refused, and the last trick won with the spade Knave.

If there had been no Double, the Declarer at this point would have been faced with a guess, pure and simple, and West would have had at least an even chance of defeating the contract.

Tomorrow's Hand

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of this newspaper. ENCLOSING A THREE-CENT STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE.

Your Birthday

"VIRGO"

If September 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:15 a. m. to 9:10 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 3 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. The unfavorable hours are from 10 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 7 p. m.

The Stars foretell for September 9th, a day full of little difficulties and worrying perplexities. It will be one of these trying days when nothing will seem to go right, and everything will be at sixes and sevens. Routine work only should be done and no effort made along new ideas, or changes of a drastic nature, effected. Above all, a due sense of values should be maintained.

Children born on this September 9th will be more studious than playful; more serious than childish. In their mature years, they will be reserved, possess a stock of valuable information and yet be unable to capitalize it to their practical advantage. Long on theory, short on practise. Their dispositions will be rather morose.

Born on September 9th, you are, if clever enough to restrain susceptibility and to curb infatuation, destined to be successful in life, gifted as you are with a keen intellect and an exceptionally retentive memory. The Stars denote that you, however, are strongly attracted by the opposite sex, and this may be your undoing, if

Don't be Afraid to Lighten Load if Child Falls Behind

BY ANGELO PATRI

There is really nothing sacred about the length of the school day. Experience has taught us that most children can profit by a five hour day in school. It took us some centuries to understand that the school day need not be the same length for all children. It was with fear and trembling that we cut the kindergarten's day in half, and with deeper trepidation, the first year children's day to four hours. Nothing happened. The children did as much work, and better work than when they were kept in school all day.

We teach children in groups in which each could do his best work, that would be ideal. That being out of the question, we do the best we can in a routine school day. But it is not essential that every child have the same hours, the same number of hours, or the same course.

Every once in a while the teacher finds a child who is not paying attention. He yawns, he fidgets, he misses his lessons, he loses his place in reading, he doesn't know the question the teacher asked, he drops home a bad report. The mother is angry and scolds the "dumb" child, back into his old ways. The note goes home again and the program repeats itself for the whole term when the child is left back in humiliation and grief.

Whenever a child fails in school have the doctor look over him. Have a specialist test his school work. Not the teacher, but a stranger. Then arrange a program that will lighten his burden. It is clear he cannot carry on as things are. Then why not change things to help him? And let the first thing you do for him be shortening his school day.

That will seem the last thing to do. Take failing child out of class? But he needs every minute of school. He gets nothing when he is there all day. How can he get anything if he is absent?

I know by experience that certain children will do better work, more work, keep up with their classes and be promoted, by following a program set by the teacher in co-operation with the specialist and the physician, during a shortened school day. Just how much time he is to cut must depend upon the nature and condition of the child. It is easy enough to decide that, once you accept the idea that it is right to do so.

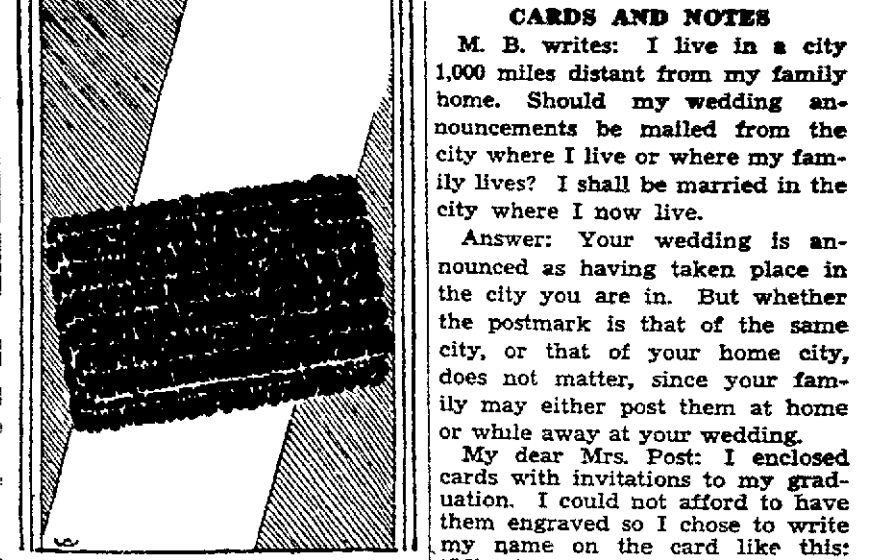

The free time is to be used to establish the child's health. It is to be spent in rest, recreation, special lessons that free the child of tension such as music, dancing, gardening, some hobby. Often we find that by giving the child a chance to work a couple hours on something he likes to do that he is better able to take school work for the rest of the time. Whatever makes him happier makes him stronger, and whatever makes him stronger helps him through school.

Don't be afraid to shorten his school day. He can make good use of the time. Lighten his load and he will go over the top in a way that astonishes you.

THE STORY OF SUE

By Margery Hale

MISS MACY ESCAPES FROM TRAP

"THERE'S something wrong in the Thornton office," Sarah told Sue. "I know I heard a moan or something coming from there. Go to the door and you'll hear it, too."

"A moan?" Sue shuddered. "Maybe it's Ruth Burke." She told Sarah and Sally as much as she knew of the plot.

The girls stole to the office door. They listened. A tense silence seemed to wait beyond. A silence that was a stage for sudden, swift action.

"Listen!" The moan came again. Low. Almost a sob. And it was a woman's voice.

"That creature knows all about it... that girl that was here," Sue said. "I'm going to get a policeman."

The door opened suddenly. The other office girl stood in front of them. She returned with Sue was telephoning.

"Sorry, I heard you," she said. Her eyes glittered. "It won't be necessary. I don't know what you are talking about, but I'll have you arrested for interfering with the office if you don't go and go quickly. Leave the building at once."

"I'm waiting for my husband," Sue answered.

"Why should he come here?"

"Because it is his father's office," she said. "You go to once!" the girl asked. "If not, I'll have you arrested as disturbing factors—suspicious characters. It might be a good stunt anyway."

She opened the office door, crossed to the switchboard, and called a number. It was the police number. Sue smiled sarcastically.

"Your wig is slipping, Miss Macy!"

As Sarah's clear, even tones made the assertion, Sue gasped in surprise. She returned with Sue was telephoning.

Miss Macy glanced up. The telephone receiver clattered in her hand.

"Raise your hands. Put them up," Sarah was speaking quickly. In her hand she held a small revolver. Sue wondered where she had found it. She could ask her about that later. "Good! Now keep them up," Sarah went on. "Sit down in that chair. Sue will you call the police this time? Perhaps the headquarters is still on the line."

Sue could hear a man's husky voice shouting into the phone. She gave him some directions. Then she hung up and turned to the other girls.

There was a long silence which lasted until the sound of steps in the corridor interrupted.

The waiting voice had not come again. The inner doors were locked. Sue had tried them unsuccessfully.

When the officers appeared in the doorway, the girl in the chair, with her hands still raised, gave a long breath of relief.

"Oh, I'm so glad you are here! I don't know why these people are holding me. They turner a gun on me and called the police station just because I was new and in charge."

Her eyes were appealing as she sought the face of the man in charge of the squad.

"Don't you know you shouldn't carry concealed weapons, lady?" he asked Sarah. "You're under arrest for it."

The girls gasped. There was a rustling noise. Miss Macy had slipped through the door.

Old Gardener

THE OLD GARDENER SAYS:

Cauliflower is attractive only when it is properly bleached so that the heads have a pleasing creamy white color. This bleaching is best done by tying the outside leaves loosely together at their tips and watching the growth of the plant to make sure the heads, or curds as they are called, are kept in the shade. Sometimes the leaves are fastened together with nails, but it is better to tie them with raffia. Cauliflower will lose its snowy whiteness and become pink if it is over-cooked or cooked in a covered utensil. It should be allowed to boil three minutes and then plunged into cold water until thoroughly cool. Then it should be returned to the boiling water and kept there for fifteen minutes.

CARDS AND NOTES

M. B. writes: I live in a city 1,000 miles distant from my family home. Should my wedding announcements be mailed from the city where I live or where my family lives? I shall be married in the city where I now live.

Answer: Your wedding is announced as having taken place in the city you are in. But whether the postmark is that of the same city, or that of your home city, does not matter, since your family may either post them at home or while away at your wedding.

My dear Mrs. Post: I enclosed cards with invitations to my graduation. I could not afford to have them engraved so I chose to write my name on the card like this: "Miss Mary Jane Brown." I have been severely criticized since for using "Miss." I know you have said when a girl is over sixteen she should use Miss, but now I wonder if that holds good when the cards are handwritten.

Answer: I certainly ought to take the blame! I never thought of a written card! I'm sorry! A handwritten card would be classified as a signature, and signatures should not have a title. When you can, you should at least have cards printed. Shaded Gothic type on very thin paper looks almost as well as engraving.

Dear Mrs. Post: How shall I express my condolence to my husband's employer, upon the death of his mother? The deceased had been very kind to us, but I had met her only on one occasion.

Answer: Write him a note of condolence, telling him how sorry you are and how much you appreciated her kindness and whatever else about her that was in praise of her, and TRUE.

Dear Mrs. Post: What, if anything, should be written on one's card that is enclosed in a gift to a bride-elect as a shower?

Answer: "With love" or "Love and best wishes."

Council Votes Improvement on Nicolet-Blvd

Neenah to Cooperate with Menasha in Street Project

Neenah—Permanent improvement of Nicolet-blvd by removal of the center terrace and ornamental lights from Commercial-st to Third-st, to be undertaken in conjunction with Menasha, was approved by the council Wednesday evening. An ordinance allowing the city to do the work directly, without advertising for bids, also passed.

Alderman John Herziger, chairman of the streets, highway and bridge committee, presented the matter to the council and revealed that the plan already had been approved by the Menasha aldermen.

At present, with only a narrow thoroughfare on each side of the grass plot in the center of the boulevard, parked cars create a dangerous situation and action to meet the problem should be taken as soon as possible, Herziger pointed out.

Alderman Loehning, Vanderwalder and Martens spoke in support of the project and a motion, giving the committee power to act, was passed without opposition. Another motion provided that the several light poles on the property involved given to the two cities by the late Chris Walters, be granted to Menasha.

No Outside Fire Help
A resolution providing that the Neenah fire department no longer respond to alarms outside the corporate limits of the city, an action recommended by the Wisconsin Fire Insurance Rating bureau, was approved. The action will result in an improvement of one grade in the city's rating by the bureau, amounting to about 4 per cent and providing a saving to residents of about $7,000, it was stated.

Classification of Canal-st from Church-st to Walnut-st as a no parking area was approved in a resolution presented Tuesday. The need for such action was outlined at the council session two weeks ago.

Suggestions providing for the erection of 20 miles per hour speed limit signs at points on Oak, and Division-sts and on E. Wisconsin-ave, and for the presence of a motorcycle officer on these streets at intervals, particularly during the noon hour and late in the afternoon, were received by the council in a letter from Frank Leaven and referred to the street, highway, and bridge committee with the committee on police and health regulation. The suggestions were approved by residents of the neighborhoods mentioned, the communication indicated.

The proposed purchase of a used tractor, recommended by the park and school boards was referred to the street, highway, and bridge committee. A communication relative to the possible purchase by the city of some property on Canal-st was received from the Winnebago Realty company and a motion was made by Alderman Herziger that the company's original proposal for a five year lease to the city of the property for parking lot purposes, in return for tax rebates and bridge committee. The motion received no second and the matter was dropped.

Walk Authorized
The construction of a sidewalk on the North side of Division-st from Elm-st to Chestnut-st was authorized but a proposal of the park

Beach Attendance For Season 35,160

Neenah—The season's attendance at the municipal beach totaled 35,160 persons, a daily average of 382, but was less than in 1931, according to figures compiled by Ole Jorgensen, attendant and life guard. The main patronage during the summer was 19,514 and women, 15,646. The bathhouse was closed for the season on Sept. 1 and on only one day was the condition of the water unfit for swimming.

1,849 Students Enter Schools

646 Attending High School, Superintendent Announces

Neenah—A total of 1,849 students have enrolled at the Neenah high school and five public grade schools for the 1932-33 term, according to a report Wednesday afternoon by C. F. Hedges, superintendent.

The high school enrollment is 646 and the remaining 1,203 pupils are attending the grade schools. There are 258 at the Kimberly school; 285 at the Washington school; 122 at the Lincoln school; 332 at the Riverside school and 146 at the McKinley school.

Last year's enrollment was 1,788, of which 603 attended high school and 1,185 the grade schools. Five years ago, the report shows, there were 1,549 pupils attending the public schools including 1,099 in the grades. High school enrollment was 480; Washington school, 418; Lincoln school, 189; Roosevelt school, 349, and McKinley school 153.

Twelve 1932 graduates have returned to the high school this term for post-graduate work. While it is anticipated that a few more students will be enrolled, there are 195 freshmen, 175 sophomores, 145 juniors and 130 seniors at present, the largest attendance in the school's history.

At Trinity Lutheran parochial school, the term opened with an enrollment of 120 pupils in the eight grades, according to William Heilmann, superintendent.

board to complete improvement work at the Lauden park was held over. Further action on petitions seeking restriction of heavy trucking on S. Commercial-st also was deferred until the next meeting. Consideration of the new city milk ordinance will be made by the committee of the whole at a meeting within a few days and action probably will be taken at the next council session.

The monthly report of the poor committee revealed a total expenditure in August of $2,060.94 of which $1,205.63 was paid by the city and $855.31 charged to outside sources. The monthly report of Justice George Harnes revealed fines and fees totaling $10,132; Justice Chris Jensen, $1,955; and police, $11,077. Expenditures of the unemployment committee during the month totaled $456.40.

A petition for changing the zoning ordinance in a portion of the Columbia park addition was referred to the planning commission and pool table license was granted to Lawrence Rouse at 307 N. Commercial-st. A petition for a street light on Park-ave and Hewitt-st was referred to the street, highway, and bridge committee.

An invitation to attend a meeting at the high school Friday evening when Chester D. Settenberg of Oshkosh will speak on the rising costs of government was received from the women's organizations co-operating in planning the session.

Open Second Suit Against Neenah

Mr. and Mrs. J. Leslie Sensenbrenner Plaintiffs In Action

Neenah—The second suit to quiet title to land abutting on Lake Shore-ave, in which J. Leslie Sensenbrenner and Mrs. Sensenbrenner are the plaintiffs and the city of Neenah and Edward P. Sherry and Laura Sherry are named defendants, was launched here Wednesday afternoon when summons and complaint was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Sensenbrenner own the corner property lying between Lake Shore and North Park-aves, bounded on the north by River-ave, and the object of the suit is to quiet title to the strip of land lying between the easterly edge of Lake Shore-ave and Lake Winnebago. The plaintiffs seek to have set aside a quit claim deed given to the city by Edward P. Sherry in 1928 which bestowed on the city any title Sherry might have in the strip of land bordering the lake, as being a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs ask that the deed be set aside and declared null and void and that their claim to the property be established against any claim of the defendants except the rights of the city in Lake Shore-ave as a street. The action was started by F. E. Sensenbrenner, agent for the plaintiffs, both of whom now reside in Niagara Falls, N. Y.

The plaintiffs cite that they and their predecessors have held continuous possession of the property since 1910 and claim title to the land between the street and the lake founded upon written instruments duly recorded.

A suit to quiet title to the strip of land between Lake Shore-ave and the lake in favor of the city was started Saturday by Mrs. Helen K. Stuart. Mr. and Mrs. Sensenbrenner are among the defendants, including the city, named in the suit.

Election of officers and awarding of trophies to winners of the year's races in the junior division will be features of the program. Present officers of the club are J. C. Kimberly, commodore; E. E. Haskins, vice commodore; and Lyle Stimp, secretary and treasurer.

10 Neenah Graduates To Enter Colleges

Neenah—Ten members of the Neenah high school class of 1932 are planning to enter colleges, universities or training schools this fall, according to John Holzman, high school principal.

Five members of the class, Sara Sande, Maxine Schalk, Robert Helvey, Myrtle Burnstein, and Ruth Nelson will attend Lawrence college at Appleton. Verna Cooke and Lucille Schultz will attend the Evangelical hospital school of nursing at Chicago; Elaine Evans will enter the state teachers' college at Oshkosh and Donald Meyer and Robert Ozzanne will attend the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Seftenberg to Talk On Tax Reduction

Neenah—A talk on tax reduction and how to accomplish it, by Chester D. Seftenberg of Oshkosh, will feature a meeting arranged by three Neenah women's organizations at the high school Friday evening. The meeting will be open to the public and Mayor George E. Sande will introduce the speaker. The organizations cooperating in completing plans for the session are the American Legion auxiliary, the C. B. Clark circle of the C. B. R. and the Neenah D. A. R. unit.

Twin City Deaths

AUGUST CARL
Menasha—August Carl, 74, 728 Paris-st, died at 3:50 Thursday morning. He was born in Germany Feb. 5, 1858, came to the United States in 1884, and had been a resident of Menasha for 40 years. Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. George Rank, Menasha, and Mrs. John Parker of Green Bay; one brother, William, of Germany; nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

MRS. JOHN ULLMAN
Menasha—Funeral services for Mrs. John Ullman, a former Menasha resident who died at Minneapolis Wednesday, will be at St. Mary's church here at 9 o'clock Saturday morning. Interment will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. The body will be brought here Thursday evening and will be removed from the Laemmrich funeral home to the residence of John Stimp, 107 E. Forest-ave, Neenah, Friday morning.

Survivors of Mrs. Ullman are her husband, five daughters, one sister, Mrs. John Stimp of Neenah, and three brothers, Joseph and John of Issaquah, Wash., and Edward of Seattle.

Fisherman Admits He Used Gill Net

Neenah—Henry Frohrib, Oshkosh, arrested last week on a charge of using a gill net, changed a plea of not guilty to one of guilty in the court of Justice Chris Jensen Wednesday and was fined $100 and costs or sentenced to 60 days in the Winnebago-co jail. In default of the fine he was committed to jail.

Frohrib was arrested by conservation warden A. C. Chase and when first arraigned before Justice Jensen entered a plea of not guilty.

Merchants Beat Quinn Brothers

Island Softballers Win First Game of Series, 5 to 3

Neenah—The Island Merchants defeated the Quinn Brothers aggregation, 5 to 3 in the opening tilt of a three-game series for the Neenah young men's league championship on the Columbia-ave diamond Wednesday evening. The second game of the series will be played at 5:30 Friday evening.

With both teams playing airtight defensive ball in the opening frames, the Quinn aggregation moved into a 1 to 0 lead in the third inning. In the fifth the Merchants retaliated with three counters and chalked up another pair in the sixth.

A home run by Toepler with Parker on base gave the Quinn team two runs in the sixth frame. The winning battery was Schmidt and Kolgen, while Neubauer and Jorgensen worked for the Quinn's.

Menasha Man Waives Preliminary Hearing

Menasha—William Grimes, Winnebago-co board member from the town of Menasha, waived preliminary examination in municipal court at Oshkosh yesterday on a charge of malfeasance in office. Judge Silas Spengler set Sept. 16 as the date when Grimes will appear to plead to the information. Grimes is at liberty on his own recognizance. Mr. Grimes is charged with having a pecuniary interest in a contract relating to sale of 3,077 yards of gravel to the town of Menasha by his son, Leonard Grimes. The complaint is signed by C. B. Anderson, town of Menasha resident and former commander of the American Legion post at Menasha.

Church to Celebrate Sixtieth Anniversary

Neenah—The sixtieth anniversary celebration of the founding of Our Savior's Lutheran church will open with special services Friday evening. A sermon in Danish by the Rev. I. Gertsen, Poyissippi, and a sermon in English by the Rev. H. Verhelmsen, Oshkosh, will precede a social program.

The celebration activities will be resumed Sept. 16, and continue three days. Principal speakers will be Dr. N. C. Carlsen, Blair, Neb., and the Rev. I. M. Anderson of Wau-paca.

City Clerk's Office Open Friday Night

Neenah—The office of H. S. Zemlock, city clerk, will be open from 7 to 8:30 Friday evening for the benefit of non-registered voters who are unable to appear during the day. Registration for the Primary election will continue until the close of office hours Saturday.

Eagle Bowlers to Form League Tonight

COMMITTEE TO MEET

Menasha—The poor committee will meet with John Sensenbrenner, superintendent of poor, at the city offices Thursday evening. Applications for aid will be discussed.

Release Man From Jail at Oshkosh

C. A. Brown, Held on Fraud Charge, Makes Restitution

Neenah—Restitution to all injured parties and a report by the district attorney's office showing no previous record resulted in the release of Charles A. Brown, 38, Chicago, on payment of fines totalling $180 in the municipal court of Judge S. L. Spengler at Oshkosh Wednesday.

Brown was arrested by Neenah police about a month ago following his alleged presentation of an advertising contract for space in a fictitious periodical, bearing the forged signature of S. F. Shattuck, an officer of the Kimberly Clark Corporation of Neenah. Shattuck identified the signature as a forgery. When arranged in municipal court later, the defendant pleaded guilty of fraud.

It was ascertained that Brown or an associate had obtained $90 and $75 from the firm on two previous occasions in the same manner and that similar fraud had been perpetrated in other instances. Orders in blank from various firms, including Oshkosh concerns, were found in the possession of the defendant, it was stated.

In seeking his clients release on payment of fines, defense attorney revealed that he had been raised to make restitution to injured parties and referred to the fact that Brown already had been held at the Winnebago-co jail for about a month.

Explains Operations Of His Green House

Menasha—The operations of a green house and the care and development of flowers was explained by Walter Baurenfeld of the Floral center green house at a meeting of Menasha Rotarians in Hotel Menasha Wednesday noon.

Dividing the green house products into two classes, cut flowers and potted plants, Baurenfeld said that flowers in season are planned about nine months before maturity. Because of cold and lack of sunlight, the green house growing operation is reduced considerably during January and February.

About 800,000,000 tulip and hyacinth bulbs are imported from Holland each year, providing an active market for growers in that country, he stated.

He continued by explaining the use of artificial light and heat, the need for cleanliness in the treatment and care of plants and the florists telegraph alliance which links about 4,000 florists in the United States.

CEMENT IS STOLEN

Neenah—The theft of 16 sacks of cement, owned by George Cederberg, contractor, has been reported to Neenah police. The cement was piled in the open at the corner of Grove and Division-sts and was stolen sometime Wednesday night, the report stated.

Twin City Boards to Meet at Nicolet-Blvd

Menasha—The Menasha street committee will meet with the Neenah board of public works at Nicolet-blvd Thursday evening. Arrangements for permanently improving the thoroughfare by removal of the center terraces from Commercial-st to Third-st and installation of concrete paving, will be completed.

70 Gridders Out For School Team

First Game of Season Against Berlin Eleven On Sept. 16

Menasha—Approximately 70 Menasha high school gridders have reported to Coach Nathan Calder for opening practice sessions in preparation for the first game of the season, a non-conference tilt, against Berlin here Sept. 16.

With eleven lettermen from last year's Northeastern Wisconsin high school conference championship team back on the squad the development of a strong offensive team is expected. The line promises to be lighter but faster than last year while the backfield, composed largely of veterans, will be about the same.

Football fundamentals are being stressed in practice sessions this week and will be followed by scrimmages and signal drills later.

Elk Bowlers Begin Season Next Monday

Menasha—The Elks' bowling league, with 10 teams participating, will begin their season's play on Hendy alleys at 8 o'clock Monday evening. Arrangements were completed at a league meeting in Elks' club rooms Wednesday evening.

Organization of the Hendy Recreation women's bowling league was undertaken at a meeting on Hendy alleys Wednesday evening and additional bowlers, to fill team vacancies, will be sought this week.

Hendy Recreation city league bowlers will meet at Hendy alleys Thursday evening to set the date for their opening night of competition.

Menasha Society

Menasha—Menasha Women's Relief corps met in S. A. Cook armory Thursday afternoon. Lunch was served.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

Menasha—The Menasha fire department was called to extinguish a fire in a rubbish pile at the west end of Garfield-ave at 10:40 Wednesday evening. The blaze caused no damage.

Officials are Pleased With Bank's Action

Approval of Branch Banking Would Help Federal System, Belief

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Government officials were very much pleased with the announcement Wednesday that the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company of Chicago has applied for membership in the national banking system. This is the largest bank to join the system in several years.

Besides being a strengthening of the national banking system because the action of a large bank often influences the attitude of smaller institutions, the move was regarded here as possibly indicating to national banks generally that if there will be a rush to the national banking system in those states where state banks do not now have or are not likely to obtain from local legislatures the privileges of state wide branch banking.

The Continental Illinois was a member of the national banking system before its merger with the Illinois Trust company and it is understood here that the reason for dropping its national bank charter when the merger occurred had to do with technical difficulties in the way of carrying out some of the trusts acquired in the consolidation. Such legal difficulties have since been ironed out and officials here welcome the return of the biggest bank in the middle west.

The last figures show that there were 6,150 national banks in the

Many Indications Of Improvement In U. S. Business

Survey Reveals Greater Activity in Number of Separate Lines

New York—Several business indicators, not ordinarily included in the computations of business forecasters, have shown improvement in recent months, a study of figures in the September U. S. Survey of Current Business indicates.

Shipments of machine tools, for instance, increased in July definitely contrary to the usual trend, according to this survey, issued by the department of commerce. The increase was small, as was the volume. Similarly, foundry shipments increased, as did new and unfilled orders. Unfilled orders of machine tools gained in June and maintained the gain in July.

A continuous increase in these figures would indicate a greater amount of retooling by industry, either to meet new business demands or to prepare for anticipated demand.

The improvement still leaves the figures far below last year, but on small volume small changes have a great effect.

Delinquent accounts in the electrical trade were at the lowest point in a year. Goods in warehouses after increasing for many months, fell in June.

A considerable number of new businesses were incorporated in recent months, with a possible continuous gain indicated. The amount of air mail increased during July and June. Bank suspensions were low, and commercial failures continued the decline in number started last March.

Flotation of capital issues was at a somewhat increasing rate. Stockholders in leading corporations continued to increase. The quantity

Will Borrow $25,000 for City Treasury

Clintonville Council Votes To Make Loan Until Tax Time

Clintonville—At a meeting of the common council Tuesday evening in the city hall, it was voted to borrow the sum of $25,000 to be used in the general fund until tax collections are made. The mayor and city clerk are to make the necessary negotiations for the loan.

The question of removing the stumps from the mill pond on Pigeon river was discussed. The present low water affords a good opportunity to do this work. The public properties committee was instructed to hire some of the unemployed men of this city to do the work.

Wadhams' Oil Co. was granted permission to erect a bulk oil and gasoline station on the land adjoining the C. and N. W. railroad tracks between the Malliet Oil station on S. Main-st and Power-st.

Arthur Dahm, manager of the Clintonville football club, appeared before the council to request the use of the army dressing rooms and armory grounds for football purposes. Action on this will be taken by the committee in charge of the armory.

Mayor H. Kratzke and a committee of four others will go to Madison soon in regard to matters pertaining to the armory and to try to secure another guard unit for this city. The guard company which was formerly located here was transferred to Madison last spring.

Clintonville was assured that another unit would be formed here.

A petition for a street light at the corner of N. Clinton-ave and Eighteenth-st was referred to the water and light commission.

Rotarians heard a talk by John Spengler, one of their members, when they met for their weekly luncheon Monday in Hotel Marston.

His talk was on "Public Utilities." In connection with the Urban Telephone company of this city of which Mr. Spengler is secretary and general manager.

Attorney S. W. Brunner of this city addressed the Lions club at a meeting Tuesday evening at the club house on Long lake. His subject was "Mortgages," and he explained in detail the various types, dwelling especially on the legal aspect of his subject.

Mrs. M. R. Stevens and Miss Dorothy Eva of Rockland, Mich., left Monday after visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Van Houklem.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Higgins spent the weekend in Milwaukee.

The bi-monthly meetings of the S. O. E. club will be resumed Friday afternoon at the Masonic hall. Mrs. W. A. Olen and Mrs. J. E. Long will be the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Abrahamson visited relatives at Lake Geneva over the Labor Day weekend.

Miss Ernestine Johannes of Chicago visited relatives in this city during the weekend.

Rudolph Schmidt, sales manager at the F. W. D. Co. in this city, is a patient in St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton where he submitted to an operation for appendicitis Saturday.

Epworth League resumed its regular meetings Sunday evening at the M. E. church following the summer recess. There was a good attendance and officers were elected for the ensuing year. They are Rosalie Doven, president; Norman Kurtz, LaVonne Sheldon, Mildred Olen and Woodrow Williams, first, second, third and fourth vice presidents respectively; Margaret Kratz, secretary; Bernadette Shepherd, treasurer; Helen Kieckhefer, pianist; Jane Smiley, assistant pianist; William Shivel, athletic director.

For entertainment, a group of the members put on a demonstration of a dramatic play.

Kermit Lyon, accompanied by his father Martin Lyons, motored to Milwaukee Tuesday where the former will enter the school of engineering to study electrical engineering.

Mrs. William Laahs Sr. of this city was taken to New London Community hospital Tuesday where she will receive treatments and perhaps later undergo an operation.

Bowling Leagues Meet Next Monday

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—The Garot alleys, after thorough cleaning and revarnishing, will open for the winter season Saturday night, according to William Garot, manager. Next Monday evening at 8 o'clock league officials and captains of various teams will meet to make plans for the season. Practically the same leagues last year will be on the alleys, with the addition of the newly formed Lions league.

Chances Slim for Relief Fund Aid

Help Due to Cities Only With Populations of Over 10,000

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—This city's chances for securing any of the state's $3,000,000 relief fund under the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's appropriation are small, a statement received by Mayor E. W. Wendlandt revealed today. According to information received from the Wisconsin Industrial commission, only cities with a population of at least 10,000 will be considered.

However, the only avenue through which New London could qualify for aid would be to join with several townships until the territory reached a total population of 10,000 or more, Mayor Wendlandt stated. The mayor and members of the city poor commission are making plans to appear before the state industrial commission at which time they will point out that New London is in dire need.

Mayor Wendlandt and other city officials are making tentative plans for joining with Clintonville and Waupaca in making group application for part of the relief fund. If such plans are acceptable to state officials and Clintonville and Waupaca, funds would be distributed on a pro-rata basis, Mayor Wendlandt said.

Although New London has made no formal application for relief, the city needs about $5,000, the mayor declared. At the present time the city's relief needs are much greater than a year ago, and it is necessary that the city get some aid, he stated.

Fellenz Scores Rising Costs of State Government

Charges LaFollette Administration with Shifting Tax Burden

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Forest Junction—Addressing an audience in the town hall here Wednesday afternoon, Louis J. Fellenz, Fond du Lac attorney, and Republican candidate for congress from the Sixth Wisconsin district, scored the rising costs of state government and attempts of the present administration to conceal the actual condition of state finances from the voters.

Mr. Fellenz pictured the conditions of the early 1890's when the matter of taxes had not yet become a political issue. "It was about the year 1900, he said, when politicians first began to speak of taking the tax load off the common people and placing it on a wealthier class. The successive enactment of taxes on railroads, inheritance, and finally incomes, he said, failed to solve the problem and costs of state government in the meantime rose from $24,000,000 in 1904 to $280,000,000 in 1930.

Scores Dividend Tax

Condemning the tax on corporate dividends as a double tax, he said the late Robert M. LaFollette as governor of Wisconsin saw fair to avoid when drafting the first state income tax law, Mr. Fellenz said that it was now a matter of grasping at the last straw in an attempt to cover an accumulation deficit in state finances. Eighteen new forms of taxation, he said, have been tried in Wisconsin in the last two years.

The theory of "soaking the rich," the speaker said, is merely a matter of shifting the inevitable tax burden, which the consumer will ultimately pay. The gas tax remitted to the various communities of Wisconsin was described as of benefit only to those who are not great consumers of gasoline, and while Mr. Fellenz believes in grade separation projects as safety measures to a certain degree, he told how in the state senate last winter he advocated the return of money appropriated to the overhead crossing projects to local municipalities for direct labor relief on more local projects.

German Band Will Give Concert at New Stand

Special to Post-Crescent

Hilbert—On Thursday evening the Hilbert German band will play concert at the new band stand on Main-st, with music by James Maher, post commander; John H. Vanden Heuvel and Martin Hietpas, first vice commander; Barney Vosters and Arthur Pennings, second vice commander; John L. Vandenberg and Sylvester Vandenberg, adjutant; George Verstege and Joseph Mollen, finance officer; John H. Vanden Heuvel and George P. Hammen, chaplain; Charles Coppus, sergeant-at-arms; Joseph Evers, service officer. The committee members were also nominated of whom five will be elected. It is expected there will be a large attendance at the meeting.

Announcement was made at St. John church Sunday of the coming marriage of Peter Hietpas and Miss Minnie Hendricks, both of Little Chute.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sielaff and son Lyle, Mrs. Augusta Kasper, of here, Miss Thekla Kasper and Floyd Lucia of Milwaukee were entertained at the Jake Jaekels home at Winneconne on Sunday. Miss Kasper is spending a 10 day vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Kasper.

Maria Jaekels who had spent the summer months at the Henry Zimmerman home at Forest Junction returned home Sunday evening to resume her studies at school.

The St. John Catholic school at St. John opened for another term with new sisters of St. Agnes convent of Fond du Lac in charge. They are Sr. M. Sedelia, teaching the higher grades, Sr. M. Mary Agnes, the lower grades. Sr. Pantratus is housekeeper.

How One Woman Lost 47 Lbs of Fat

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

"Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it."

Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C. "P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks cost but a few cents. When reducing attention to diet will help—cut down on pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat.

To take off fat harmlessly and lose fat safely, take one half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning—don't worry—it's the safe way to reduce.

But be sure for you don't know the salt that you ask for and get Kruschen Salts. Get them at any drugstore in the world and if the results one bottle brings do not delight you—do not joyfully satisfy you—why money back. Adv.

He was brought to his home in this city and an examination revealed a number of fractured ribs and injuries to the head. His fall was due to a loose rod on the ladder.

In the Patchin prize project contest sponsored by the State W. C. T. U. under the Department of Scientific Temperance instruction, the first prize, $20 in the Freshman and Sophomore group, was won by Miss Arla Belle Hebard, Waupaca high school. Miss Hebard's essay, the best of 57 entrants, was written as a play on the topic "The Cigarette Versus School and Athletics." Her teacher, Miss MacGregor, is awarded $10, according to the rules of the contest.

183 Enrolled at Lutheran School

Catholic School Reports Tuesday Attendance At 240

New London—Emanuel Lutheran parochial school opened on Tuesday morning with an enrollment of 183. A few more are expected to come in, according to Bernard Boesa, principal. No regular classes were held Tuesday, teachers were working with the children of the eight grades for registration. Classes got underway Wednesday with three of the four teachers in charge. Milton Thieme, teacher of the fifth and sixth grades, recovering from an operation for appendicitis at Community hospital, will be unable to assume charge of classes for several days. His place is taken by Miss Irma Boettcher of Hortonville. Other teachers are Miss Edna Greutzmacher, in charge of third and fourth grades, Mrs. Melvin Wolftrich, teacher of kindergarten, first and second grades, and Mr. Boese, who teaches seventh and eighth.

At the Catholic school the total enrollment Tuesday amounted to 240. Kindergarten pupils were registered. Classes got down to study Wednesday with Sister Alexandria taking the place of Sister Carmel in the eighth grade; Sister Pascaline in charge of seventh, Sister Luella having sixth grade and Sister Adeline having fifth. Third and fourth grades are combined with Sister Agatha in charge, and Sister Verona is in charge of the lower grades.

City Grid Team to Practice on Sunday

(Special to Post-Crescent)

New London—The city football team will have its first workout at 8:30 Sunday morning. Outside teams already are after the Bulldog scalps, several having written for games. Wrunkle and Bannock again will be back in the line, and are bringing with them Fishleigh, who won his letter at quarterback at Notre Dame. From the Fox river valley will come Hartjes, Winters, and Swede Johnson. The Swede has had an attractive offer from Fort Atkinson, but may be persuaded to continue to play with the locals. "Choppy" Meating is all set to handle a line position and Jimmie Olsen of Waupaca, a former Lawrence player, will also be on hand. The addition of the new comers should put plenty of speed in the backfield and more beef in the line.

Miss Viola Frailing Is Married to Marion

Married to Marion

Marion—The marriage of Miss Viola Frailing of Marion, and Herman Bressler of Dupont, took place at the parsonage of the St. John Lutheran church here at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Rev. George Durkop performed the ceremony. Miss Frailing is the daughter of Mrs. Amelia Fradrich. The young couple will make their home in this village for the time being, although Mr. Bressler is working his mother's farm in the town of Dupont.

At a special meeting held after the services at the St. John church Sunday it was decided to celebrate the annual Mission festival Oct. 2. Dinner will be served in the dining room by the women of the congregation.

Sunday the Marion Badgers traveled to Wittenberg for the Fox River league game and won by a score of 5 to 4. It was a well played game without any errors. On Monday the Waupaca team crossed bats with the Marion boys on the local grounds. The score was 6 to 1 in favor of Waupaca. Next Sunday Marion will play with Clintonville.

Several fires have been reported in the near vicinity of Marion. One on the Emil Malueg farm got out of control Monday afternoon and before it could be checked had destroyed several acres of wood land owned by William Dieck.

Drunken Driver Is Fined $50, Costs

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—Charles Beattie of this city appeared in Justice F. A. Archibald's court Tuesday afternoon to plead guilty of driving while intoxicated. He, with Alfred Timmel, was arrested Saturday by Chief of Police Macklin on Dor-st. Timmel was fined earlier, and Beattie was fined $50 and costs.

Rotarians Defeated By Lions in Golf

Major Operation For New-Born Child

New London—After trying ever since the Springvale Golf course has been in existence to defeat the Rotarians, the Lions finally came through Tuesday evening, winning 7-3. A supper followed the game which was served at the club house. Rudd Smith turned in a 41 for low score.

Major Operation For New-Born Child

New London—The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Watson of Hortonville, born at Community hospital Monday night, underwent a major operation when it was one hour old. The child's condition is satisfactory.

The Faithful Cheat

SYNOPSIS: Sondra Merriman has decided to stand by her mistake, a secret marriage. She has not told her husband, Mark, that while he was in the Congo she realized that she loved John Anderson. This decision is encouraged by Anderson. Sondra herself lacks courage to face unhappiness.

Chapter 37 SO MANY MILES FLORA LOMAX leaned back in a chair and yawned as she looked across at her sister. "Well," she said, "I never thought you had it in you, Sondra."

"Had what in me?" Sondra asked. She was touching her cheeks with a little rouge and lightly coloring her lips, they were so pale. "Sacrifice all for love—or whatever sentiment you call it," Flora said mockingly.

They were in Flora's big house again, and it was October. For the last two months Sondra had been away with Mark down at the sea, and a moment ago he had come into the room, demanding in his old, eager way if everything was packed, and warning Sondra not to be late.

In an hour's time they were to begin their journey to Italy. "I suppose it's hardly a sacrifice if one is happy oneself, is it?" Sondra said, intent on her occupation. "But—are you happy?" Flora asked doubtfully.

She was the old Flora again, a little harder in expression, beautifully dressed, casual. Ben seemed to have altered more than any of them. Sondra had been thinking only a moment ago, or was she the one who had changed most of all?

Ben was so softened and gentle that sometimes even Flora admitted that she hardly knew him. He followed his wife round like a faithful untrained dog, hanging on her every word, ready to gratify every wish. "I thought him his lesson all right," Flora told her sister in triumph.

Sondra pitied Flora—sometimes she wondered if Jocelyn Farr realized for how much he was responsible—if after all it would have been so terribly dishonorable of him to have taken her sister away. "Funny that they should both be in the same boat; both loving men who would have none of them."

"And yet—I'm not really unhappy," Sondra often told herself. "At least—only when I see John, and then . . ." well then it was as if someone turned a knife in her heart and forbade her to cry out. Mark had never spoken to her again about Anderson's love for her, though once he had said to her that he didn't think it was really possible to love anyone unless you completely trusted them.

"As I trust you, Sondra," he had added. "Nailing my colors to the mast," Sondra thought. She was proud that Mark was so much better; the doctor had told her that he would always have to take great care, but—he had added smiling at Sondra, "I know you will see that he does."

And today they were going to Italy. Since their return from the sea they had stayed in Flora's house. "Back in the old rut," as Flora had called it. "It's rather a good rut," Sondra had protested.

Outside in the street Mark's luggage and her own were being loaded onto Flora's car, and the sun was shining, and presently John Anderson would meet them at the pier to see them off, and wish them God speed. "I can't bear it—" Sondra thought wildly, but the next moment she had turned and was smiling at Flora.

"I don't know why you should doubt if I am happy," she said with a little grimace. "I was never the sort of person to do things if I didn't want to." "No you never were—" Flora agreed meaningly. She rose languidly and crossed the room to her sister. "Kiss me," she said. "It's ages since we kissed each other."

The color rushed to Sondra's cheeks and her eyes filled with tears, but she laughed. "We're getting sentimental," she said. "What's the matter with us, I wonder?" "I think you've suddenly turned into an angel," was Flora's enigmatical answer. "I wonder if you realize how wonderful you've been to Mark."

"Because I love him, I suppose," Sondra said defiantly. "There are so many kinds of love," Flora answered. She did not as a rule pay any attention to what her Ben said, but last night she had felt oddly comforted when he had said in his blunt way: "Merriman doesn't look up to much, does he? Take it from me he won't make old bones."

SEE VENUS SURFACE

Phoenix, Ariz.—Recently astronomers received their first glimpse of what they believe to be the surface of the planet Venus. Hazy markings, something like the geometrical patterns on Mars, were observed through the powerful telescope of the Lowell Observatory. Venus has always been hard to observe because of the thick clouds by which it is surrounded.

Dan Courtney Wins First Match in Defense of City Golf Title

Paired With N. Pfefferle In Semi-Final

Final Rounds in All Flights Will Be Staged on Sunday

DAN COURTNEY, defending city amateur golf champion will meet Norbert Pfefferle in the semi-final of the third annual tournament now being held at the municipal course. Courtney defeated Lyle Spencer, 5 and 4, in the first round match and Pfefferle copped from W. Verbrick 4 and 3.

The other semi finalists in the championship flight will be Carson Harwood and Tommy McKenney. Harwood defeated E. Selig 4 and 3 and McKenney bumped J. Fumal by a 2 and 1 score.

Semi-final matches all must be played by Saturday, and Sunday morning the finalists will start the 36-hole grind for the championship. The final matches all will be open to the public and a large gallery is expected to follow the players.

The winners of the semifinals will be trophies, medals and merchandise. All prizes now are on display at the Schlager Hardware company, and presentation will be made as soon as the last match is finished Sunday.

In B flight Frank Murphy will meet Art Lemke in the semi and L. Lawrence will play Bob Stark. Murphy defeated O. Strutz 2 and 1 in his first match. Lemke beat George Packard 3 and 1, Lawrence beat E. Feldhahn 4 and 3, and Stark-trimmed O. Hurley 4 and 3.

The C flight finalists will be B. Blakowsky versus Doug Hyde, and William Hegner versus E. Gressenz. Blakowsky beat F. Cooper 4 and 2, Hyde beat L. Konezeman 5 and 4. Hegner beat J. McGain 3 and 2, and Gressenz beat Ed Volmer 5 and 3.

In D flight play L. Booth beat Ben Laird 6 and 5 and now plays C. Below, who had a bye in the first match. G. McGregor beat G. Kohler 5 and 3 and meets the winner of the Booth-Below match. Harold Roeder who trimmed G. Puth 6 and 3 meets A. Mitchell in the final match. Mitchell beat C. Stark 8 and 6.

The junior chamber of commerce again is conducting the tournament.

Chaff'n Chatter

THE old guy who penned the lines about a prophet in his own country, and the pasture being greener on the other side of the fence must have managed or coached a championship sports team for a town like Appleton.

Tuesday a story came across our desk describing the big turnout of fans towns folks, bands and what not that greeted LaCrosse diamond ball team when it returned from Wausau with some kind of a national championship. There were hundreds of folks, fetes of all kinds and plenty of cheering and congratulations.

And we wondered a moment and thought about the Pond All Stars who won the state playground ball title in faster circles than the national meet at Wausau, and of the American legion junior baseball team, state champions, and of other champion sports teams. Appleton has had and we thought of the way those boys have returned home from their quests greeted by cheering silences and remarks of "how did you do it; lot of luck, eh?"

When the Pond All Stars went to the state meet most of the comments were that they'd be lucky if they got far. When their premier home state champions, a dinner at a local restaurant given by Charles Pond who spent a lot of money in an effort to win the cup and

Report Babe Ruth Has Appendicitis

Yankee Slugger in New York for Examination; Club at Detroit

DETROIT — (P)—The pennant-bound New York Yankees today were without the services of their premier slugger, Babe Ruth, who left suddenly last night, explaining to Manager Joe McCarthy in a long distance telephone call that he was ill.

Mark Roth, club secretary, said Ruth told McCarthy, who had remained in Buffalo, N. Y. over the weekend, that he had been seized with severe abdominal pains and feared he had appendicitis.

In New York, Roth said, the Babe will be examined and treated by a club physician. In the absence of definite information, neither Roth nor Arthur Fletcher, Yankee coach, would discuss the possibility that the club might have to go into the world series without its famous home run hitter.

Ruth's departure, accompanied by his wife, was so unexpected that neither Roth nor Fletcher, who were in charge of the team during McCarthy's absence, knew of it until an hour and a half later. It was only after Roth had made inquiries among the players, inspired by questions of newspapermen who had learned Ruth was being boarded a New York bound train, that he told of Ruth's telephone conversation with McCarthy.

Both he and Fletcher said Ruth seemed in good health during the day and that he showed no signs of illness Tuesday when he played in an exhibition game at Binghamton, N. Y., hitting a home run.

The Yankees open a five game series here today with a double-header against the Tigers.

Pro Golfers Gather For Glen Falls Meet

GLENS FALLS, N. Y. — (P)—A field of 200 golfers, including many of the country's leading professionals, teed off today in the first round of the annual Glen Falls country club open tournament. The tournament, which is being held at the country club, will not be present to defend the title.

Stars vying for the $3,500 prize money included T. Philip Perkins, Tom Creavy, Paul Runyan, Johnny Farrell, Johnny Golden, Wiffy Cox, Bill McElhannon, Bobby Cruikshank, Leo Diegel, Tommy Shute and Jose Juredo, of Argentina.

Play today and tomorrow will be over 18 holes. The 60 low scorers will then compete in the 36-hole final on Saturday.

Bierman Kicks About New Dead Ball Rule

MINNEAPOLIS — (P)—Bernie Bierman, new football coach at the University of Minnesota, who will send his first Gopher eleven into the field this fall against a power laden schedule, declared today the new "dead ball" rule was too drastic and should be modified.

Bierman said that while the new rule should be corrected, it undoubtedly would eliminate some of the harmful effects of piling up.

"I believe it should be modified to a certain degree," Bierman said. "I can not see where there is any excuse for a rule which declares the ball dead when a player, who is running in the open field with no one near, stumbles momentarily and touches his knee to the ground."

San Francisco—Vearl Whitehead, Santa Monica, outpointed Millio Milletti, Omaha (10.)

American Leaguers to Hold Annual Banquet

The first annual American league softball banquet will be held Saturday afternoon at Stroebe's Island. It was announced today by Hilbert Weller, president of the league. A sports program will begin at 2:30 and winners will be given prizes. A roast pork dinner is scheduled for about 5 o'clock.

The banquet was made possible by a collection the boys took up from fans during the closing days of the league race and on a split of collections taken at the city series. The Fox River Paper company won the league championship but lost in the quest for the city title.

Collegians, Kaws To Battle Sunday

Valley Leaguers Will Ring Down Curtain on Season at Kaukauna

APPLETON baseball entry in the Fox River Valley league will ring down the curtain on the 1932 season Sunday afternoon when it invades Kaukauna for a postponed game. The battle means nothing to Appleton but a win will give Kaukauna a tie with Green Bay for the Valley pennant.

Last Sunday the two teams met at Kaukauna with Appleton holding its own during the early part of the fracas. The Kaws got to Dats Crowe for hits and coupled with Crowe's wildness soon had enough runs to win by a 6 and 1 score.

The same lineups that performed for the teams last week are slated to take the field again Sunday. Crowe will toil for Appleton and Lefty Fortin for Kaukauna.

Crowe turned back the Kaws several months ago in a sterling exhibition and although beaten last Sunday feels he can trim them again. The big fellow doesn't put much on the ball but eases it to the plate and usually has good control.

If Crowe can beat Kaukauna he will be doing Green Bay a great favor. The Bays completed their schedule last Monday and will be idle this week. If the Kaws tie with them for the bunting it is more than possible the title never will be decided. Football has taken over the Green Bay fans now and the Packers open Sunday with Grand Rapids. The week following the Bears play at the Bay and whoever heard of Bay fans supporting baseball when there was a football game within 100 miles.

Chicago Cards Win From Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — (P)—The Chicago Cardinals opened the professional football season here last night by defeating the Grand Rapids Maroons. Last year's champions of the Michigan Professional Football league, 13 to 0.

Passes gave the Cardinals both touchdowns, one in the second period on a 12-yard toss, Simas to Rogge, and the other in the third, Simas to Moore. Frosty Peters' dropkick added the extra point after the first touchdown.

The Cardinals, using the Notre Dame shift, outplayed Grand Rapids except in the last quarter when the Maroons ripped the line for long gains until Chicago held them for downs on the 20-yard line. Both teams were somewhat ragged. Chicago's scrambling and Grand Rapids lacking adequate interference.

Fort Atkinson Hawks Again Show on Grid

FORT ATKINSON — (P)—George Casey, former University of Wisconsin star end, was named today as manager and playing coach of the Fort Atkinson Black Hawks, semi-pro champions of Wisconsin.

Casey said he expects Harold Smith, captain of the 1931 Badgers, will also be a member of the squad which now includes eight former university stars.

Arrangements for games have been started with teams at Minneapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee and smaller cities in Wisconsin. Practice opens Monday.

Association Youngsters Can Set Two New Records

CHICAGO — (P)—A pair of youngsters, Bill Knickerbocker, of Toledo, and Joe Mowry, of Minneapolis, today appeared certain of hanging up a new American association record apiece.

Knickerbocker, with 18 games yet to play, needed only one more two base hit to tie the league standard of 63 established by Earl Smith of Minneapolis, in 1924. Mowry, regarded as the choicest prospect in the league, had scored 159 runs, only seven behind the record set by Bunny Briet of Kansas City in 1921.

Mowry yesterday scored three times against Milwaukee, but they had a lot of scoring power themselves, and trimmed the league leaders, 12 to 11, in ten innings. Milwaukee crashed Dutch Henry, Elmer Vanden Gilder and Ray Ryan for 21 assorted hits, while the Millers collected 18 off Fred Stieley, Americo Polli and Garland Braxton.

St. Paul strengthened its hold on seventh place by twice coming from behind to upset Kansas City in both games of a doubleheader, 7 to 6, and 8 to 6. Joe Blackwell had the Saints whipped in the first game until the ninth when he folded up. St. Paul scored five runs to tie it up and finally won in the eleventh. Another five-run drive in the seventh frame of the second game, gave the Saints another victory.

National Race Tighter After Cubs Lose Two

Pirates Divide Twin Bill With Brooklyn; A. L. Teams Idle

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

VEN though the Cubs and the Pirates are keeping the National league pennant race steamed up so that they almost monopolize the fans' attention, there still is time to consider the case of Charles Fred "Red" Lucas of Cincinnati.

In his seventh season with the Reds, Lucas appears to have reverted to the days when a pitcher was expected to play almost as often as an outfielder and there was no big corps of relief boxmen waiting around ready to go in the minute he showed signs of faltering.

The husky redhead, who has fallen below the 500 mark in games won and lost only once in his six seasons with a usually weak club, may repeat in that respect again this year but he seemed certain to lead them all in the matter of finishing what he starts.

Lucas has started 29 games so far and he has been in there at the end of 27 of them. He ran up a string of 18 complete games in a row, failed twice in a short time in mid July and since then has made a new string of eight. Unfortunately for his record, he has won only 13 games and lost 15.

Lucas took it on the chin again yesterday although he hurled a fairly good game against the Giants. He had a 5-3 margin in the seventh inning then ran into a home run assault that brought three runs and cost him the decision.

The woes that usually greet the leading clubs of the west when they start their final trip of the season turned up in schedule time. Chicago's league-leading Cubs ran into grief in Boston and took a double defeat from the Braves, 11 to 4 and 2 to 0.

The Pirates clipped one game off Chicago's lead by splitting a two-play program with Brooklyn. They had no trouble winning their eleventh straight game, 8 to 3 as they drove Van Mungo to cover in the first inning of the opener. Freddy Fitzsimmons' portside hurling proved a bit too much in the nightcap and Brooklyn won 4 to 2. Heimach gave only seven hits.

Dizzy Dean, who had won his last four games for St. Louis, also felt the effects of going on the road and lost a 6 to 5 encounter to the Phils.

There were no American league games scheduled.

Chicago White Sox Still Seek Talent

Ed Walsh, Jr., Recalled from Coast; Claim Chad Kimsey on Waivers

CHICAGO — (P)—While the Cubs battle for the National league championship, Chicago's American league representative, the White Sox, are looking at ball players, hoping to attain enough strength to finish higher than seventh place next year.

Since the opening of the American league season, Manager Lew Fonseca has tried more than 80 athletes and the parade of incoming and outgoing individuals goes right on. Numerous trades last winter and during the season have helped the club little, but Louis Comiskey and his manager are still trying.

Pitcher Ed Walsh, Jr., son of the famous Sox spitball hurler, has been recalled from Oakland, Cal., where he compiled a fine record in the Pacific coast league, and outfielder Willis Norman, who has done some distance hitting in the American association, reported to day from St. Paul.

Chad Kimsey, right handed pitcher, also was due to put on a Sox uniform today, the club having claimed him for the waiver price from the St. Louis Browns.

Tickets for Green Bay Packer football games may be purchased in Appleton at the men's wear department of Pettibone-Peabody company. The store has a block for sale to Appleton people and the tickets may be secured up to Saturday night.

Mother Is Donie Bush's Sweetheart, Scribe Finds

MINNEAPOLIS — (P)—Sensing that Minneapolis fair fans were intensely interested in Donie Bush, successful and single manager of the local American association ball club, a local girl reporter got the word to the former Detroit star and pilot of three major league teams.

BUSH

What she wrote for her paper probably will not encourage those who might have designs on Donie, but it revealed the sentimental side of the little man's life that made a big illustrated front page story.

"His only sweetheart," the reporter related, "is his 75-year old mother. Her photo stands in a little frame on his dressing table at the hotel with a rosary hanging over it."

"I couldn't go to sleep at night if that picture were not looking at me," said Mr. Bush, modestly. "You see this is the first time in 15 years that my mother has not traveled with me. But I visited her three times at her Indianapolis home this summer and I've telephoned her three times a week."

Donie recounted how 26 years ago when at the age of 16 he started to play baseball, his mother insisted upon learning the game. She eagerly followed his career that found him starting as shortstop for the Detroit Tigers the lineup of which included such baseball immortals as Ty Cobb and Sam Crawford.

"She knows as much about it now as I do," said Mr. Bush, "and she never misses a game unless she is ill."

Frank Shields to Play Henri Cochet

Ellsworth Vines Expected To Have Trouble With Lester Stoeften

New York — (P)—Frank Shields, the earnest tennis workman who went all the way to Paris with Uncle Sam's Davis cup team, only to be sidetracked on the eve of the challenge round, had a chance at vindication today when he faced Henri Cochet of France in the quarter-finals of the national singles tournament at Forest Hills.

Former Griddler to Defend Spears in Suit

MINNEAPOLIS — (P)—A young man who formerly matched his 160 pounds against brawny Big Ten linemen still holds the confidence of his old coach.

Physical strength doesn't count in this case and neither did it count when George McKinnon, University of Minnesota center of a few seasons ago, was pitted against men outweighing him from forty pounds upward.

Courage and smartness were the big factors when McKinnon played for Dr. Clarence W. Spears, then head football coach at Minnesota. Dr. Spears, now chief coach at the University of Wisconsin again, is banking on McKinnon who represents Mrs. Spears in a lawsuit against a Minneapolis man to seek abrogation of an agreement whereby the Spears relinquished title to a house.

Seattle—Freddie Steele, Tacoma, outpointed David Velasco, Mexico City (6.)

defeated such good men as Fritz Mercut and John Olliff, British star, in straight sets. Playing at top form again, his service one of the most severe in the world, he is capable of giving the French ace a rousing match.

Ellsworth Vines, Jr., after three days of easy opposition in defense of his title, appeared to have a peek of trouble on his hands in big Lester Stoeften of Los Angeles, the only unseeded player among the eight remaining in the tournament.

Stoeften has played remarkable tennis the last three days in overcoming Juro Satoh of Japan, Joseph Coughlin of the coast and Gregory Mangin of Newark, national indoor champion.

Another combat was that between Wilmer Allison and Sidney Wood Jr., Wood, dropped from this year's Davis cup squad, is in the middle of a determined comeback that carried him yesterday to victory over Frederick Perry of England by scores of 3-6, 4-6, 6-0, 6-0, 7-5.

George Lott, Jr., victorious over Frankie Parker and Takeo Kuwabara, Japanese champion, in his last two tries, faced Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, intercollegiate title holder, in the last of the quarter-finals.

New York—Bulls withdrew before a huge volume of selling in today's stock market, influenced in part by a wide break in cotton. It was one of the most active sessions in the past two years, with a turnover of roughly 5,500,000 shares. Losses ranged from 1 to more than 3 points leading issues.

Speculators for the advance fought the decline for a time, bidding up rails, food shares and miscellaneous industrials at various times during the day, but the general list gave way in pronounced fashion in the last hour, although the selling showed some signs of subsiding before the close. A $5-a-bale break in cotton, in response to a larger than expected crop estimate, set in signs for active liquidation in the export market.

Issues off 3 points or more in the final dealings included U. S. Steel, American, Allied Chemical, Eastman, Dupont, Westinghouse, Case and others, while issues losing 2 points or more included American Can, Bethlehem, Inland, Pacific, Santa Fe, American Tobacco, B. Chrysler, Safeway and others. Norfolk and Western lost most of a 6-point rise registered in the morning. Southern Pacific was strong for a time, but lost most of a 2-point rise. Gains of a point or more were numerous during the intermittent rallies. Among issues closing off 1 point or more were General Motors, Standard of N. J., and Radio.

Hog Prices Rise Another 5-10 Cents

Trading in Cattle Lacks Activity at Outset; Supply Ample

Chicago—(P)—Increasing their lead slowly, hog prices were lifted another 5¢ to 10¢ as fresh receipts, though above expectations, remained well within the limits of current requirements. With 4,000 hogs billed direct to killing plants, sellers were unable to interest the big operators in butcher hogs early, but did succeed in selling them packing sows freely at a 10¢ advance, against $1.00, good to choice lights and butchers.

Eastern demand gave no indication of expansion during the first hour of trading, only a few leads being picked up at the higher prices, but small local butchers competed briskly for the high grade 180 to 220 lb. animals at $4.60 to $4.70, and the initial top of $4.75 was up a nickel from Wednesday's pinnacle. Medium weight butchers at $4.54 to $4.65 made up a big cut of the run.

Trading in cattle lacked activity at the outset, the supply of 8,000 being ample for market needs and aside from special orders for highly finished heaves, demand lagged. About 400 range cattle were offered and packers reported 200 natives coming on direct billing. Commission men in the sheep sheds showed unusual confidence and held optimistic views at the opening of the market with a run of 15,000, of which 4,000 were forwarded to several packers on through consignment. Higher prices were asked but actual trading was delayed by resistance of buyers.

Cotton Values Cause Dip in Wheat Prices

Corn, Oats and Rye Also Unsettled Because of Wheat Influence

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago—(P)—Breaks in cotton values had a decided bearish effect on wheat prices today, causing wheat to dip to 31 cents under Tuesday's high point.

Rallies, however, ensued owing to evening-up for the government grain crop report due tomorrow. Rural deliveries of wheat in Canada continued heavy, more than triple those of a year ago.

About midseason, wheat was 1-1/2 under yesterday's finish, and corn unchanged to 1/4 lower. Advances were received that corn continued badly fired in sections of Ohio and Indiana.

Corn, oats and rye were somewhat unsettled with the action of wheat the main influence. Country offerings to arrive of corn were of only fair volume. Some evening up for the government report was in evidence in corn.

A downward trend in wheat after an early show of firmness was associated with reports of hedging pressure at Winnipeg, with weather favorably to threshers and crop movement in the Canadian prairie provinces. A steady factor, however, was confirmation of continued reduction of European stocks of breadstuffs. The amount of wheat on ocean passage was reported as below actual weekly absorption, and but little more than half the total a year ago.

Trade comment said Europe evidently was relying upon home grown wheat supplies to an unusual extent. Belief was expressed such reliance could not continue in view of a decided crop shortage in the Danube valley and a poor crop in Poland, as well as a shortage in Russia. So far this season, Russian wheat shipments have amounted to only 1,352,000 bushels, compared with 3,448,000 the corresponding time last year. Liberal receipts of corn, 334,000 cars, in Chicago today against 63 a year ago, had a bearish effect on corn and oats.

Coach Drills Grid Team for Hard Schedule

Little Expected to Cut Squad Within Few More Days

Kaukauna—Coach Paul E. Little, who has been drilling his squad of 36 griders daily, soon will cut his squad to two teams. He has eight lettermen to form a nucleus for the 1932 eleven. His schedule is one of the hardest in the Northeastern Wisconsin conference. The season will open with Shawano here on Sept. 24. School officials, however, are trying to arrange a practice game to open the season one week earlier.

Lettermen who return to the high school are Captain William Kuchelmeister, halfback; Karl Schuler, quarterback; Ambrose Maule, center; George Block, tackle; Judson Judas, halfback; Gerald Vils, end; and several others. Several players of last year's Bee squad are expected to make the first team this year.

Karl Towles, Vincent Stephens, Melvin Hein, Raymond Hipp, Clarence Niesen, Marcus Nig, Tom Driessen, Alvin McCormick, Luther Grebe, Jerome Van Able, Marcell Rademacher, Robert Goetzman, and Henry De Keuster. Several of the new recruits have shown promise of ability and with several weeks of practice are expected to be of great assistance to Coach Little.

Workouts with the high school B team will be started with 28 players Saturday morning under direction of Henry Griesschar. This squad also will be cut down after several practice sessions. The B team will schedule games with B teams of conference schools, playing in the preliminaries to the regular conference schedule.

Put Off Meeting Of Review Board

Await Word from Tax Commission on Water Power Valuation

Kaukauna—The meeting of the board of review scheduled for Wednesday has been postponed another week pending the receipt of some information from the state tax commission, according to Mayor B. W. Fargo. Valuations of the undeveloped water power of the Mississippi Canal Co., has been declared too high by officials of the company, who are seeking to reduce it. The board of review has postponed action on the consideration of the company's charge and has asked for advice from the state tax commission.

With the receipt of this information the board again will resume session to decide whether the assessed valuation of the Canal company's property shall be reduced. The meetings of the board are held in the office of the city clerk in the municipal building. If the information necessary is received this week the board will meet at 2 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the board are Mayor B. W. Fargo, Louis C. Wolf, city clerk; Mary Hooyman, city treasurer; and Alderman Nathan Brewster, Ben Bell and William Carnot. Two of the aldermen are from the Third and Fourth wards on the south side of the city, and one is from the First ward on the north side.

Submit Report To Commission On Water System

Utility Considers Feasibility of Drilling New Well

Kaukauna—A preliminary report by the Jerry Donahue Engineering Co., which conducted a survey of the city water system, has been submitted to the utility commission. The engineers have been surveying the water system for the past few weeks to determine the feasibility of drilling a new well to supply drinking water here.

Increased consumption and the extension of several water mains are believed to have made the necessity of a new well apparent. Mayor B. W. Fargo recently reported to the city council that if the new well is necessary, it probably will be drilled on the north side of the city. Several sites already have been investigated.

Since the survey was started a well drilling company was called in by officials of the city water department to check an airline on well number four. The checkup revealed however, that the well line was in good condition. J. J. Faust Well Drilling Co. was in charge of the checkup.

The latest extension to the city water main system was completed on Tenth-st several weeks ago. Last year an extension was installed on the Lawe-st water main, extending the main to the north and northeast city limits.

Members of the utility commission are Mayor B. W. Fargo, L. C. Wolf, city clerk, Alderman William Carnot, Charles E. Raught, and Ed Haas. Herbert F. Weckwerth is superintendent of the Kaukauna water and electrical departments and L. C. Wolf is secretary of the commission. The commission meets at no specified date, but is subject to call of the mayor.

Blaine was expected to give a talk in the Depot park at 4 o'clock today.

Poor Cost Kaukauna $1,600 in August

Kaukauna—According to the monthly report of R. H. McCarty, poor commissioner, a total of $1,684.55 was spent for poor relief during August. Of this amount there will be $296.62 returned to the city by the county for money expended for county charges. Included in the expenditures were the following items: Merchandise, $556.99; rent, $507.25; fuel, $13.75; aid, $84; care, $104; miscellaneous, $11.94; and county charges, $296.62. The cost of poor relief for the city during the month was $1,387.93.

but is subject to call of the mayor.

Mayor B. W. Fargo stated that the report of the engineering firm which has been submitted to the commission, asked for suggestions and criticisms. He further stated that it would be about 30 days before the complete report of the engineering company would be available.

If the engineering company finds in its survey that a new well is necessary steps toward its immediate installation will be taken, it is expected. By locating the well on the north side of the city, officials believe it is possible that the city will have a supply of drinking water that also can be used as soft water.

Suffered with Eczema for 20 Years. Healed by Cuticura.

"I suffered from eczema for twenty years. It broke out in small water blisters and itched and burned continually, causing loss of sleep. When I scratched the blisters broke and smarted so that I could hardly stand it. I kept my hands out of water as much as possible as it made them worse. I tried different remedies but none of them helped me. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. They helped me so I continued the treatment, and in six months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Lena Knutson, Box 21, Effie, Minn.
